

BUILDING PROGRESS

San Francisco Exposition grounds are the scene of extraordinary activity at the present moment.

While the Fair officials are rushing work on the main buildings the concessionaires are hard at work on their productions.

Rapidly a glittering Fairyland is rising beside the Golden Gate and when the Fair opens one of the most attractive features of that domain will be Mahomet's Mountain.

Superintendent of Construction A. E. Bird is hard at work rearing our 150-foot high mountain of marvelous illusions and sensations.

This increased building activity is creating increased demand for our shares and our unsold treasury stock will soon be gone.

Get in NOW. Get your share of our expected enormous profits which should amount to at least 10 to 1.

Estimates give 20,000,000 paid admissions at the Fair. Mahomet's Mountain should get at least 40 per cent of that number—$2,000,000 gross receipts, and more can be made.

Moving pictures of the marvels of the Mountain should produce at least $1,250,000 in a single year.

Mahomet's Mountain, when erected at Coney Island, N. Y., the foremost playground of the nations, should make enormous profits.

Three thousand people can be inside its walls at one time and those crowds should stream through all day and every day.

$3.00 and $3.40 a month for 5 months buys 100 shares. Take more if you like; pay cash if you choose.

Buy NOW. Before long every share will be sold and the opportunity gone. The remaining shares are but a small amount. Clip the coupon.

HOW FOREIGNERS IN MEXICO CITY WOULD DEFEND SELVES

Americans Have Two Machine Guns and 250 Rifles—Foreigners Are All Allies in Case of Trouble

MEXICO CITY, April 30.—"I'm the correspondent of the London Express," said a newly arrived young Englishman, entering the British Club in Mexico City.

"Just sign your name on this list," said the secretary. "Drill day will be announced soon. Every Englishman who comes here joins the British colony volunteers. We'll furnish you with a rifle when you go to drill."

Every Englishman in Mexico City is expected to join the volunteers. The rifles, strangely enough, are furnished, in part, by the Mexican government. There are about 700 Britishers in the capital, including perhaps 100 women and children.

The Germans in the capital number about 1000, including 800 men, most of whom have served in the German army. Drills, with the German volunteers, are frequent, and they have entered into the spirit of self-defense so heartily that they have even purchased horses for a volunteer cavalry.

Together with the British volunteers the Germans would make a fighting force in the foreign colony of 1000 men. There are also, perhaps, 500 Frenchmen who are prepared to join the force of foreign self-defense, bringing the number of "allies" up to 2100.

There would be more than this number of men, however, ready with rifles if it became necessary for foreigners in Mexico City to defend themselves against riots or mob violence. The strength of the American colony is kept secret and the fact that they are supplied with rifles is not bruted about, because of the anti-American feeling in the capital. In the American embassy, now, there are two machine guns and 250 rifles which are ready to be distributed among the Americans, if need arises. Our hundred American men, it has been estimated, would be added to the "allies" if the call to arms were sounded. There may be less now since the American exodus from the city.

The census of 1910, taken in days of peace, shows that there were 12,27 Spaniards in Mexico City at that time, and 24,212 Spaniards in all of Mexico. It is probable that these figures are about the same today, for the Spaniards have not fled from the country as have members of other nationalities. They couldn't flee, very well. They own all the capital but do not only in the capital but in the rest of Mexico. They control the liquor, or pulque business, and the tinaco business. Much of the tinaco is done by them. About the only interests they have left untouched are mining, which is done by Americans, and dry goods, which is in the hands of the French.

It is probably because they are so prosperous and have seized so much of the country's business that Spaniards are so cordially hated by Mexicans and are invariably mistreated and robbed by Mexican revolutionists. If the Spaniards in Mexico City have organized a defense corps they are keeping the fact a secret, in order not to arouse Mexican ire. If it were known in the capital that Spaniards were arming, it might be necessary for the government, in order to satisfy the populace, to take their arms away from them.

The 400 Japanese in the capital are fully prepared to defend themselves but the 1500 peaceful Chinese men, who do the laundry work of the city—a business which the Mexicans do not begrudge them—will take what fate doles out to them, if conditions are disturbed.

It is a matter of fact that an army of about 3000 foreigners could be organized in Mexico City on a few hours' notice. The volunteers would gather in the Colonia Roma District, where nearly all of the foreign embassies are located.

This district was entered by the Mexican fighting men during the battle of Mexico City about a year ago and more than one embassy was struck by bullets; perhaps more than one foreign flag was pierced. But the chief object of the fighters was to reach the home of President Madero, which was situated in the Colonia Roma district. After they had seized that and shelled it and burned it to the ground, there was no more trouble in that part of town.

It is not believed, in case the city is thrown into militant turmoil, that the "allies" would have to defend themselves for more than 20 hours.

The foreign battleships at Vera Cruz all lie near the terminal of the railroad that leads to Mexico City. Empty cars are kept there in readiness for the word that marines are needed in the Mexican capital, and if the railroad lines were not cut, some 8000 French, German, English, Spanish and American marines might reach the city within less than 24 hours, not to mention a large number of Japanese marines who would be rushed on a 36-hour trip from the Pacific coast.

DEFECTS FOUND IN NEW STATE HIGHWAY

ises were made were made before his connection with the commission. Newport Beach could be reached this summer through Old Newport, the last portion of the journey being upon completed highway.

Coast Boulevard

J. A. Armitage stated that considerable progress has been made recently in getting rights-of-way for the coast boulevard.

Supervisor Struck said that the supervisors stand ready to go to work as soon as the rights-of-way are secured.

Wassum reported that San Bernardino will soon complete its part of the Chino-Olinda road, and this county ought to build its portion soon. Supervisors Talbert and Schumacher and Auditor Lester said that there will not be enough money in the general fund to allow $3000 for the road before July 1. In the new fiscal year the road can be built.

Build Other End

Wassum moved that the State Highway Commission be asked to begin the construction of the state road between San Juan Capistrano and the San Diego county line, for which it has deeds. It can be building that road while settling with James Irvine concerning the deed to the road across the San Joaquin. This carried.

Surveyor McBride said that the state had accepted from Richard O'Neill a deed with exactly the same reservations asked by Irvine. He asked Engineer Clark why there should be discrimination against Irvine, and Clark said the commission is now sorry it accepted O'Neill's deed.

District Attorney West said that the commission had arranged a conference with Irvine for this week, and he thought the matter would soon be adjusted.

Telephone Switching

A. A. Mills of Anaheim stated that the Associated Chambers has brought a complaint before the Railroad Commission asking that inter-switching of telephones be ordered in this county. Mills said the Associated Chambers should employ a lawyer to see the case through. Attorney Brown of Orange said that Orange is interested in the matter as it has but one telephone system. He said he believes an amicable settlement can be made in a conference, and he asked that a conference be encouraged. The general utilities committee was given power to act.

Progress Report

L. H. Wallace said that the glass factory at Newport Beach is turning out all kinds of high grade glass ware, such as cut glass, electric light balls and shades, and he urged that the people of the county support the institution, which is being fought by the glass trust. The trust has reduced its price on one commodity from $27.50 to $12 in the hope of smashing the factory.

Wallace stated that an attempt is being made to get a deed to 8.6 acres from the P. E. The land is asked by Uncle Sam in the harbor plans.

Wants a Trip

J. F. Ahlborn of Anaheim declared in favor of a get-acquainted trip by all the members of the Associated Chambers. He said he would like it to be a great occasion with scores of automobiles in line. The matter was referred to a committee. Ahlborn, F. R. Aldrich of La Habra and T. B. Talbert of Huntington Beach.

Moving Ahead

For the benefit of the visitors, the new concrete pier at the beach city was opened up last night, and a great deal of pleasure was derived in inspecting this achievement of the progressive city. It is the best concrete pier on the Pacific coast. The pier opening celebration is set for June 20, and H. B. Little in his address of welcome invited all Orange county to come and help celebrate. The pier cost $70,000. The response was by J. A. Armitage. The next meeting is at Fullerton.

Some of the visitors went through the oilcloth factory being built at Huntington Beach. This is a huge building, built to be the most modern factory of its kind in the United States.

Committees

Standing committees for the year were appointed by President Stern as follows:

Ways and Means—W. A. Zimmerman, chairman, Santa Ana; Dr. M. V. Marshburn, Yorba Linda; A. Nelson, Buena Park.

Manufacturing and Commerce—T. B. Talbert, chairman, Huntington Beach; James A. Smart, Santa Ana; W. T. Brown, Fullerton.

COMB SAGE TEA IN LIFELESS, GRAY HAIR

If Mixed With Sulphur it Darkens so Naturally Nobody Can Tell

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and abundant with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, ready to use, for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and abundant.—Advertisement.

MAN IS GARCIA NOT PASQUAL VASQUEZ

Mexican in Mexicali Jail Murdered Molino, Not Wardlow

The man who was jailed at Mexicali was Jacinto Garcia and not Pasqual Vasquez.

This is the word telegraphed to the sheriff's office here today by Sheriff Rudbeck, who with Under Sheriff Law went to Calexico to get the man that they had been informed was Vasquez, wanted for the murder of Delbert Wardlow at Talbert.

"Man is Jacinto Garcia who murdered Molino." This is the message from Sheriff Rudbeck. Garcia is not wanted here. Five years ago in a local feud he killed Molino and left him on the Santa Fe railroad tracks. He departed for Mexico. About two months ago Garcia was arrested in El Centro and was held for the Santa Ana officers. However, he was turned loose because the district attorney's office in looking up the evidence now obtainable against Garcia found that there was nothing on which to convict him, the witnesses having disappeared.

Garcia has been going under an assumed name at Mexicali. Calexico officers believed he was Vasquez. Acting on that information, the sheriff went to Calexico to get the man. It is not thought that he will be brought here. He may be shot at Mexicali for the murder of De la Fuente, who used to live here. Two days ago he stabbed De la Fuente, probably the murder having something to do with the old Mexican feud here.

14.27 INCHES OF RAIN THIS SEASON

Crop Conditions in County Are Brighter Than Many Years Past

The rain of yesterday morning, 15 of an inch, brought the season's total up to 14.27 inches. On April 23rd, 30 of an inch fell. Crop conditions throughout the county are brighter as a result of this season's copious rainfall, than has been the case for a good many years past.

Beet fields particularly are in splendid condition. There is no beet growing section in the county that does not have a well-stocked and healthy appearance. Nearly all the growers are employing men for the work of thinning out the rows. The outlook for a bumper beet crop is particularly encouraging in the Talbert district.

The rain of last week and yesterday has tended to put the soil of the bean fields in an unsurpassed condition. As far as the weather situation is concerned more beans should be raised to the acre this year than for a good many years previous.

OLD NEWPORT NEWS BUDGET

OLD NEWPORT, April 30.—Miss Ida Segerstrom spent last week in Newhall as a guest of Miss Pearl Needham.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Harlin spent several days in this vicinity visiting friends.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hutton and family spent Sunday at Newport Beach. Mrs. Ray McClintock has gone to Elsinore to stay a month on account of her little daughter's health.

Ida, Anne, Ester, Will and Anton Segerstrom were entertained at dinner on Sunday by Miss Alma Plavin at Talbert.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Wakeham motored to Trabuco Canyon Sunday to visit Walter Wakeham, who has nine hundred acres of fine barley.

Mrs. J. B. Lockett and Mrs. R. L. Tedford were hostesses at a shower Thursday evening, given in honor of Miss Ethel Walton, who is to be married to Tom Devine of Orange on May 2. The evening was spent playing various games and Miss Walton received many beautiful and useful gifts.

Before the close of the evening the bride and groom-to-be received lots of "good" advice on "How to be happy though married."

WHAT IS DOING ABROAD

By Karl Von Wiegand, Berlin Correspondent of U. P.

BERLIN, April 28.—Germany is launching the most tremendous war for trade conquest of modern times. Organization upon organization in every branch of trade and industry is being formed with a definite, specific plan and purpose of capturing a new market, extending trade already in existence or crowding out the trade of some other country. The captains of Germany's industry are planning a movement that in effect is a leaf from the famous aggressive tactics of the German army applied to the peaceful conquests of the world's markets. At home efforts are being concentrated on ousting foreign made goods and

IF BACK HURTS USE SALTS FOR KIDNEYS

Eat Less Meat if Kidneys Feel Like Lead or Bladder Bothers

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

WHAT IS DOING ABROAD

By Karl Von Wiegand, Berlin Correspondent of U. P.

replacing them with domestic manufacture wherever possible, while abroad Germany's commercial gains, backed by the vast resources of the empire, governmental and private, are to be trained on every market, especially where American, English and French trade may now enjoy an advantage.

Germany has set for itself the task of doubling its export and import trade which at present is approximately $5,200,000,000. It has chalked up the figures $10,500,000,000 as a trade target at which to aim.

Like the famous "Grosse General Staff" (Great General Staff) of the German army which has every move outlined and planned in advance for war, so the German captains of industry are mobilizing the economic forces of their country, not defensive but offensive for world conquest. Organizations which have been in logheads for years, are being induced to drop their differences and join in one united, gigantic crusade against America, England and France.

Within the last few weeks there has been organized the "Institute for Sea Traffic and World Trade," "The League of German Foreign Trade Associations," "The German-American Economic Union," "The German-China Institute" and now as a sort of "general staff" to scientifically direct all the other organizations, there is being formed the "German Association of World Commerce." This latter is headed by Arthur Ballin, director-general of the Hamburg-American Line, whose motto is "Mein Feld is die Welt" ("My Field is the World").

The markets of the world are being plotted out for these different organizations like a gigantic battle map. The German-China Institute composed of the industries have trade in China or see the possibilities of trade for their respective branch of commerce or manufacture, will command and direct the "divisional commercial army" which is to develop and capture China's trade for Germany. It will include among other colonial trade organizations, the powerful German-Asiatic Company, the Hamburg East-Asiatic Concern and the German Colonial Company, with millions of dollars back of them.

Among the outlined plans of the campaign for invading China, are the establishing and financial support of a chain of German-Chinese elementary grammar and high schools, manual and industrial training schools and medical institutes, teachers for all of which are to be sent from Germany.

German newspapers are to be founded in several of the principal cities in China. Wherever possible, German language institutes are to be opened to give the Chinese an opportunity to learn German at small cost. The sending of Chinese students to Germany is to be encouraged and supported. In fact, every possible effort is to be made to win the sympathy of the Chinese for Germans, Germany and German goods.

There is a German-Argentine Association, a German-Chilean Association, a German-Brazilian organization, each of which is to further relations, interests and trade with these South American countries. For the purpose of concentrating and unifying the efforts of these organizations for a more aggressive and scientifically directed campaign in South America, there has been formed the "League of German Foreign Trade Associations." This organization of captains of industry will be another "divisional general staff." Its principal battlefield will be Mexico and South America. It also will organize propaganda in every country not already covered.

The German-American Economic Union organized since February has for its purpose the fostering of better trade relations with the United States and Germany of course, the furthering of German exports to America. Each of the organizations named will have much to say about the reciprocal trade agreements with the different countries in the trade of which they are specialists. They will examine all new proposed trade treaties and make suggestions to the government.

The "Association of World Commerce" will be the general headquarters and central directive agency of all the other organizations. One of its principal missions will be to hunt down and counteract the alleged "slanders" on German trade by French, English and American rivals. A sort of "intelligence department" will be one of the sub-divisions in the world association. Through the association it will keep every German manufacturer posted on trade conditions in all parts of the world, so that quick and prompt advantage can be taken of opportunities offered to counteract any moving by foreign rivals.

INTAKE IN RIVER WAS WASHED OUT

Yesterday a freshet in the Santa Ana river washed out the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation Co. and the Anaheim Union Water Co. intake, and as a consequence there will be no water in the ditches for several days. Heavy rains at San Bernardino caused the water to rise, and the intake went out. Superintendent Ralph happened to be at the intake and minimized the damage. He expects to get the intake rebuilt by Saturday.

DECLARE MANAGER GO AWAY WITH $300

FULLERTON, April 30.—George B. Thompson, formerly manager of the Fullerton branch of the Pacific Coffee & Tea Company of Los Angeles, is accused of the theft of $300 from his employers in a warrant sworn out against him before Justice of the Peace Inskeep here. Thompson left Fullerton last Saturday and his whereabouts are not known. He was seen in Anaheim Saturday night.

The accused man is past middle age. Very little is known of him in Fullerton. He came here two months ago to take charge of the local branch of the Pacific Coffee & Tea Company. It is said that last Saturday he spent most of the day collecting bills due the company from customers, and it is this money, together with other company funds, that he is accused of stealing.

PUBLIC EDUCATION BY UNIVERSITIES

A striking illustration of the changing conditions in educational ideas may be found in the growing appreciation on the part of leading universities of their responsibility to the public. In former generations a university was regarded as a thing apart, and a college professor was looked on, not only by the humorous paragraphers of the newspapers, but also by the mass of people, as a man living in a world of ideas, without any connection with practical affairs. Today our leading universities are recognizing not only the opportunity, but also the duty of making available their knowledge for the benefit of the masses. This tendency is highly commendable, especially in the field of public health and prevention of disease. The Harvard Medical School has a standing committee on public lectures which arranges each year for a course of Sunday afternoon talks by members of the faculty. These talks are open to the general public and are on topics of general interest. For instance, last year the course of twenty lectures included such topics as "Preventive Medicine in Relation to Industrial and International Concord," "The Care and Feeding of Young Children," "What the State Board of Health is Doing to Protect the Health of Its Citizens," "The Dangerous Effects of Patent Medicines" and "The Preservation of the Natural Teeth." This year's course includes talks on "Rational Baby Feeding," "Bodily Effects of Rage and Fear," "Spectacles and Eye-Glasses, Their Use and Abuse," and other subjects of practical interest. The lectures given in the past have proved of value and so popular that they are now being issued in little pocket-sized volumes at popular prices under the title of "Harvard Health Talks." In Minnesota the daily press is cooperating in the same kind of work. A series of articles on disease and its prevention by Dr. E. P. Lyon, dean of the University of Minnesota Medical School, recently appeared in the Minneapolis Journal. The University of Missouri is one of the few state universities that have recognized the growing tendency by the organization of a distinct department on public health. A series of bulletins for public reading and distribution are being issued. The five so far completed are on "Bacteria and Disease," "The Prevention of Typhoid Fever," "The Prevention of Contagious Diseases in School Children," "Resuscitation," and "The Relation of Sight and Hearing to Early School Life." Each of these universities has apparently worked out its plans in accordance with the needs of its own particular field. In Boston, popular Sunday afternoon lectures, in Minnesota, newspaper articles, and in Missouri, pamphlets on specific subjects seem to meet existing conditions. The significant fact, however, in the opinion of "The Journal of the American Medical Association," is that our universities are recognizing their responsibilities to the public and are making serious, intelligent and practical efforts to meet them.

TROUBLE IN OKLAHOMA

Authors like Frank Norris and Hamlin Garland, with their stories of farmers who improved mortgaged or dubious claims, and by trickery lost half their labor, would find a deep interest in a quarrel agitating Oklahoma. The question is of the "preference rights" of lessees of public lands in the purchase of the plots they have tilled. It affects 1,798,524 acres, thousands of farmers, and the whole future of the schools.

Secretary Williams of the land office asserts that education will lose $20,000,000 if land continues going at the price already fixed in an area larger than Delaware.

The present preference rights, it is pointed out, restrain competitive bidding, for the outsider must pay cash for improvements, and faces general ill-will; a vast social sense having grown up that any one who has rented from the state for years has a right to his land at minimum cost. The lessees not only resist modification, but are framing new demands; and the Farmers' Union, with the State Federation of Labor, "will support only candidates for office this year who subscribe" to them. Some are calculated to assist the small investor; some are palpably unjust.

The whole situation involves burning questions as to the comparative right of the state and its tenants to unearned increment; and the outcome, on account of the great property rights involved, and the evident clash between self-interest and regard for the inheritance of the school children, should be watched throughout the country.

EXHIBITS OF BAD TASTE

There is being conducted, at the "Modernist studios" in New York, what is called an "Exposition of bad taste." It contains typical styles of house furnishing of twenty-five or more years ago. There are shown horse hair furniture, wax flowers, ornate china, eccentric statuary, "God Bless Our Home" mottoes, etc.

The preceding generation had many very grotesque ideas about furnishing a home. Yet many of the people who laugh at these peculiarities may select a home setting that will seem just as ridiculous in another quarter century.

Perhaps our children will laugh at the fake oriental rugs that many wealthy people are now spreading on their floors. The idea has gotten abroad that anything bearing the talismanic name of some Persian or Turkish city is blessed by sweet and flowing harmonies of color.

As a fact, the oriental rug business is very much commercialized today. Many of the older rug makers had a wonderfully true sense of color harmonies. They produced an article that had artistic feeling and also wore a life-time.

Now the rug makers are running workshops and making rugs for wealthy American homes to order at high prices. The most garish and strident combinations of color are hashed together. Very likely the product will wear no better than a well made American factory rug.

There has been a violent fluctuation of furniture style from the scroll saw period to the angular severity of the mission type. On the whole, the change to simplicity was welcome. But it has made many living rooms look as bare and angular as a business office.

If furniture is simple, so as not to catch dust, and if it is comfortable, inviting, and homey, the "modernists" will get little chance to laugh at it. One good test of the good taste of a purchase is whether you make it to use or to look at.

CITRUS FRUITS IN AUSTRALASIA
(By Reginald Brinsmead)

It is not perhaps generally a matter of knowledge that Australia is to be numbered among the world's producers of citrus fruits. In view of the proposed extension of the California export shipments of oranges and lemons to Australia and New Zealand to be made possible by the transportation facilities induced by the opening of the Panama canal the following figures are perhaps of interest:

Latest data at hand show that there are planted in Australia between 25,000 and 30,000 acres of citrus fruits, of which the majority are oranges. Of the states of the commonwealth, New South Wales is by far the greatest citrus fruit growing state, over two-thirds of the entire acreage being planted there. Victoria, however, is increasing her acreage, and in 1912 over 600 acres of citrus fruits were planted in the northern part of that state. Of the total acreage in New South Wales over 17,500 acres were classed as being in bearing in 1912. The approximate citrus fruit acreage in Australia is as follows:

New South Wales, 25,000 acres; South Australia, 2750 acres; Victoria, 2250 acres; Western Australia, 1250 acres.

Of the above acreage probably 1000 acres are in lemons. The orange crop of New South Wales in 1912 was valued at nearly $1,000,000.

IT'S "SAINT LOUIE" FROM NOW ON AND FOREVER

ST. LOUIS, April 30.—It is done. The argument is settled. After today, forever and for aye, it shall be pronounced "Saint Louie." So said the parent masters and committee who intimated that they did not care a hanged even if the word "saint" is given an English pronunciation, while the "Louis" follows in French. "Good-bye 'St. Lewis,'" says the Mound City, "we cannot stand the final hiss."

HOOSIERS BREAK GROUND FOR 1915 FAIR BUILDING

SAN FRANCISCO, April 30.—Indiana's fair commissioners broke ground yesterday and drove the first foundation pile into the site of the Hoosier State's pavilion, which will shelter a $75,000 exhibit at the Panama-Pacific Exposition in 1915. The building itself will cost $75,000.

SCHOONER HUGH HOGAN STILL HOLDS TOGETHER

FLORENCE, Ore., April 30.—Although pounding heavily and leaking badly, the schooner Hugh Hogan, which recently went ashore near here, is holding together today. Hope of saving the vessel has not been entirely abandoned. Seven of the crew are still aboard, refusing to be taken off until all hope of saving the ship is gone. The women aboard were removed during the night.

Power Plants In California

(From the Los Angeles Financial News.)

Public utilities of the United States and Canada are treated in an exhaustive manner in the New York Evening Post, in a special edition. There are a number of special stories from well-known men in the power world. Regarding the progress and development of electric energy in California, the Evening Post prints the following:

"California is so famous for its fruit and for the charm of its climate that it is rarely remembered as one of the States richest in water power in the Union. Such, however, it is; and in addition it must be credited with an early alertness to the value of its streams for producing hydro-electric power. It was in 1891 that there was installed in Germany a hydro-electric plant, an experiment which proved a practical forerunner of the development subsequently made all over the world and which transmitted power over a distance of eighty-one miles. In the following year the San Antonio Light and Power Company in Southern California, built the Pomona plant, transmitting power for thirty miles at 10,000 volts. Three years afterward, in 1895, the Folsom Water Power Company completed a line twenty-two miles long from Folsom to Sacramento, operating at 11,000 volts, to supply the latter city with power for traction and lighting. These works, 'gigantic' in those days, were the beginning of a tremendous development still uncompleted, which, with a total State output of 45,000 horsepower, has already far surpassed the most enthusiastic expectations of the founders of the industry, leaving untouched an estimated potential development reaching up into the millions.

"During these early years there were a number of far-sighted and confident pioneers who were already acquiring the water rights on the upper reaches of the northern rivers, in the hope that they might sometime be of value for the building up of California as a manufacturing State, as well as for washing precious metals out of her mountain ores and irrigating the valleys in which her fruit was grown. Another plant was begun on the South Yuba River in 1905, known as the Rome Power House, for supplying Nevada City, Grass Valley and the near-by mines with light and power, and this was the beginning of the big system of power engineering and management which now, under the name of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, owns and operates property in thirty California counties, the largest of the several power systems in the State, and representing an area of 37,950 square miles, greater in extent than all of the New England States exclusive of Maine. In these counties the system supplies 204 cities, towns and villages, which represent in population two-thirds of the State, and operates hydro-electric plants, steam plants, gas plants. The development has been one of the most interesting and the output of the largest in the country. The eleven hydro-electric plants of the system are capable of an output of some 123,500 horsepower and the five auxiliary steam plants of about 89,000 horsepower, so that there is a total power capacity of some 212,500 horsepower.

"Probably the greatest interest in any single hydro-electric development in California has attached to that on the south fork of the Yuba and Bear rivers, and at the Lake Spaulding reservoir, which was completed last fall. A great storage system, in building which was erected the biggest dam in California, 300 feet in height, ideally braced by two granite bluffs, was planned for the supply of water for power. To the water already impounded in twenty reservoirs in the catchment area of the South Yuba, having a capacity of slightly over 2,000,000,000 cubic feet, there was added that stored by the new dam in Lake Spaulding, twice as much as that already held by the existing reservoirs, so that the system controls a supply of 6,000,000,000 cubic feet of water. The annual rainfall and watershed area of 120 square miles give an expectation of double that amount a year. The power to be generated is estimated at above 100,000 horsepower, and will be carried 118 miles on steel tower transmission lines at 115,000 volts to the load center of the system, where its voltage can be reduced and it can be sent to any part of the territory already covered by the system.

"The great dam, which is, so to speak, the keynote of the arch of this important system, is an interesting construction of interlocking concrete blocks, arched upstream to give added strength in resisting the pressure of the enormous body of water held in check at the record elevation of 4600 feet in the mountains. It is near the main line of the Southern Pacific Railroad. When it was completed and the reservoir was full, the lake formed covered 700 acres of land. An example of the way in which every opportunity for use of the resources of the region was taken advantage of is contained in the fact that this timber was used for lumber needed in the work as it progressed, so that the clearing of the site and the advancement of the work were made mutually helpful. A solid rock tunnel, 100 feet in diameter, a mile long carries the water from the reservoir to a concrete-lined canal, which in turn conducts it 8½ miles to the regulating reservoir, or forebay, a site of 400 acre feet capacity holding enough water to run the entire plant for twenty-four hours and provide for power fluctuations. This, in turn, drops the water directly to the wheels of the power house at a pressure of 585 pounds to the square inch, about three times the high steam pressure of the big locomotives of the Southern Pacific Company.

"This big development is typical of the work that is being done by various concerns throughout the State in working out a progressive program of making the most of the State's resources. The engineering skill that is going into the achievement of California's ideal is of the highest quality, and the power houses and transmission lines which have been erected have been made models of efficiency without losing sight of the value of natural and architectural beauty wherever they could be preserved. Incidentally, the hydro-electric system is going to mean much more to the citizens of California than the production of new power for manufacturing, lighting, mining and traction. It would be unfair to represent the development as a one-sided one, and to forget the numerous other uses which it will serve. For instance, the bed of the Lake Spaulding reservoir has been carefully stripped and cleaned so that it can be used as a water supply for the people of the towns in the adjoining counties.

"Throughout California it has been realized that the water being saved for power purposes was equally useful for irrigation, and so these two vital industries, electrical and agricultural, are being made to co-operate. When the water has been used in the power houses, it is turned into the fields and groves of the farmers, who have been making California fruit famous; and performs a new service in adding to the fertility of the region. Lake Spaulding is a great sheet of water which affords a new beauty spot in California, and it is already evident that it is to be a popular recreation resort. So are being realized the complex values that any single enterprise may have when its possibilities are fully understood, as the conservation of water, originally planned as a matter of commercial advantage, is being adapted to contribute to every department of the life of the people of the State."

TEACHERS BANQUETED

Forty-five of High School Faculty Enjoyed Pleasing Affair Last Evening

What promises to be a pleasant innovation for the teachers of Santa Ana was inaugurated last evening with a banquet enjoyed by the High School faculty. So delightful was the affair that one of the important after-dinner proceedings was to vote the holding of a similar event in one month from now for all teachers in the city schools. The idea of these affairs is social relaxation for the teachers, where they may eat and chat and desist from the use of the gray matter that is on duty all day.

The banquet was served by the ladies of the United Presbyterian church in the spacious dining room of the edifice at six-thirty o'clock. Potted plants and nasturtiums used in profusion transformed the dining room into a near-bower. The vines of the nasturtiums dotted with the rich flowers twined the pillars of the room and extended from end to end of the table on which were bouquets of the nasturtiums. Forty-five teachers joined in the gaiety of the evening.

City Superintendent of Schools J. A. Cranston introduced Attorney Horace Head, who was the speaker of the evening, and Ernest Crozier Phillips, who gave a reading. The successful efforts of the entertainers were received with applause.

The young men and women waiting on the table were Messrs. Paul Anderson, Will Warren; Messes Dorothy Deane, Eva Tidball, Nellie Wilson, Gailene Finley, Jessie Eilers, all spring graduates of the High School, and also connected with the United Presbyterian Church.

Crawford-Stratt
A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Tratt, 1329 Poinsettia street, at 9:30 this morning, when Miss Martha A. Tratt of Santa Ana became the bride of Wm. J. Crawford, also of Santa Ana.

To the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Bertha Crawford, sister of the groom, the young couple took their places, amid the beautiful decorations of white roses and fern. The groom's father, Rev. N. J. Crawford, pastor of the United Brethren church, solemnized the marriage. Only the immediate relatives of the young couple were present.

A delightful wedding breakfast was served. A number of valuable presents were received, one of the most valuable being a beautiful residence lot on Polanetta street, presented by the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Tratt. The young couple left on the south bound train for a brief honeymoon. On their return they will establish their home in Santa Ana.

The Billy Club
Mrs. Dina McDonnar delightfully entertained the Billy Club at her pleasant home near Tustin, last Friday. The rooms were beautifully decorated with roses and ferns. The young ladies spent a jolly afternoon with their needlework and lively conversation. The hostess served a dainty two course collation at the close of the afternoon and the guests all voted it a very merry time as they departed for home. The auto ride to and from the McDonnar home was also greatly enjoyed.

All members of the club were present. They were: Mrs. Flake Smith, Mrs. Chet. Nuckolls, Mrs. Ray Wilson, Mrs. Clarence Tedford, Mrs. Jess Elliott, Mrs. Joe Babbitt and the hostess, Mrs. Dina McDonnar.

The Boy Club has been enjoying many such meetings for some time, but being unable to think of a name until the last meeting, they have not been having their jolly times reported. A few weeks ago a house party was held at Balboa by the members of the club and their husbands. Also many whist parties have been enjoyed in the evenings.

The Tango Tea and the Soiree dances are here at last. Under the patronage of the ladies of the Elks' Club, the new dances of the day with their accompanying social features will be introduced here formally. Miss Eleanor Klein of Los Angeles, lately coming to Santa Ana, has consented to inaugurate classes for instruction in the tango, the one-step, the hesitation waltz and the other late ball room dances whose popularity is now raging. Knowing the universal desire that exists for learning the new tepochoreon steps that have taken society by storm, the patronesses announce that the classes will be open to the general public.

The evening classes, or soiree dances, will be held on Monday and Thursday nights from 8 to 12 o'clock, dancing following the instruction hours in the earlier part of the evening.

The Tango Teas will be held on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons from 3 to 5 o'clock. It is likely that the Tango Teas, which so persuasively and perfectly fit in with the lighter side of social life, will quickly become the vogue in Santa Ana.

The first of the dancing classes will be held next Monday evening, May 4, at Elks Hall, which will be used for all of the classes.

Woman's Glee Club Concert

Lovers of glee club music are looking forward to the concert to be given tomorrow evening at the First Methodist Church by the Occidental Women's Glee Club. This concert is being presented by the members of the "Two in One" Class of the church and the proceeds will be devoted to the building of additional rooms to the Sunday school annex to the church.

Aside from the laudable object of the concert which any one will be glad to promote, a musical treat will be offered to those fortunate enough to be present. The Woman's Glee Club, besides being something of a novelty, as few of the feminine glee clubs of colleges make tours, will give a pleasing program in a pleasing manner.

"Kewpie 13" Club

Mrs. Ralph E. Williams entertained a few friends Wednesday and during the afternoon the ladies organized a new embroidery club, christening it "Kewpie 13."

The original club consists of thirteen members. Those present besides the hostess were: Mesdames A. L. Carey, A. T. Martin, Leora Harris; Misses Helen McNeill, Lela Thomas, Ruth Stewart, Libby Lindsay and Grace Harding.

Ho! For a May Pole Party

The kindergarten and first grade of the McKinley school wish to invite their parents and friends to their Maypole party at Birch Park tomorrow (Friday) at 10 o'clock.

Missionary Alliance Meeting

Dr. G. N. Eldridge of Los Angeles will conduct services in the Emmanuel Baptist Church the first Friday in each month at 2:30 p. m. The first service will be held tomorrow afternoon, May 1. Come and bring your friends.

ALL THE NEW DANCES TAUGHT
Tango, Hesitation, One-Step, Monday and Thursday nights, 8 to 12 p. m. Tango Tea, Wednesday and Saturday afternoon at Elks Hall, 3 to 5 p. m., under patronage of the ladies of the Elks' Club. Open to the public. Price, nights, 50c; afternoons, 25c. Miss Eleanor Klein, instructor.

MOOSE DANCE

Another of the favorite dancing parties will be given in Moose Hall Saturday evening, May 2. The present weather is so delightful for dancing that there will no doubt be a large number present. The usual excellent music will be furnished by the Sid Purcell Orchestra.

JOLLY BIRTHDAY PARTY

Event for George Balderston Was a Surprise in Many More Ways Than One

One of the merriest of parties was the surprise party with which a number of the good friends of George Balderston helped him celebrate a birthday that promptly arrived yesterday. Just how many milestones the honoree of last evening's event has counted is a state secret, but he admits that he is twenty-one, and hereafter will be able to vote, all of which can be accepted as the veritable truth.

In gay spirits, the guests proceeded to indulge in the bestowal of burlesque gifts. Knowing of Mr. Balderston's pastoral tastes, they presented him with a handsome Jersey cow (unfortunately of papier-mache), a whole family of ducks (not marketable but acceptable), a May-basket of gigantic size (contents—two pieces of candy), a diamond (?) ring, guaranteed to be from the coal fields of Colorado, and a solid brass watch which should have been from Switzerland, but wasn't.

Nonsense reigned supreme throughout the evening until time for refreshments arrived, when the "real thing" in delicacies was produced, the visitors having taken with them some super-fine strawberry sherbet and all sorts of delicious cake. In view of the excellence of these, Mr. Balderston forgave all the rest.

Responsible for the joy of the evening in which Mr. and Mrs. Balderston entered with the greatest of spirits were Mr. and Mrs. Max Robinson, Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Reeves, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Grubb, Mr. and Mrs. A. I. Pease, Mr. and Mrs. Robbins, Dr. and Mrs. L. L. Whitson, Mr. and Mrs. Verne Whitson, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Wassner, Mrs. Theresa Goodman, Mrs. W. L. Tubbs; Misses Pauline and Theresa Reinhaus; Messrs. Lester, Tubbs and Julius Reinhaus.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Frawley of 914 East Fourth street left today for their old home in Tawas, Michigan, where they have not been for nine years. They expect to be absent until next fall and will doubtless go farther east before returning.

Rev. J. A. Stevenson left Tuesday night on the Owl for San Francisco, where he went to attend a meeting of the board of trustees of the San Anselmo Theological Seminary, of which he is a director. The meeting was held yesterday and the seminary commencement opens today.

Following the commencement exercises Mr. Stevenson will go to Sacramento where he will visit his brother, Dr. G. L. Stevenson, who is superintendent of the Southern Pacific Hospital. He expects to be at home on Tuesday or Wednesday of next week.

AMUSEMENTS

At the Lyric

A great big play with a big moral, entitled "The Drug Traffic," is being presented at the Lyric Theater today, and a more pathetic or tragic drama would be hard to conceive than is had at the close of this two-act, vivid melodrama, depicting the awful and inevitable end of those poor victims of the drug, morphine. It is a play every man, woman and child should see. It will cause an awakening and some serious thinking.

Two other high-class reels, one of which is "Forgetting," a very beautiful drama, and another, "Oh, You Puppy," featuring Pearl White, of "Perils of Pauline" fame, in a screeching comedy, go to make up a very extraordinary program.

At Clune's

"The Adventures of Kathlyn"—"A Colonel in Chains"—Thursday and Friday. Series No. 5, the most sensational so far. It is fairly crowded with action, and the two reels unfold themselves without any perception on our part of the passing of time. For half an hour one is actually oblivious both of time and environment. We are away off in the fabled Alhambra, close in touch with the heroine, her misfortunes and triumphs.

Like her we are astonished to find Colonel Hare, her father, who was supposed to be dead, a prisoner in chains, in the dungeon of the royal palace. As the purchased slave of Umballah we see her rush into the arms of her parent, while the rascal, in the dungeon of the royal palace.

The terrific struggle as the colonel attempts to strangle his enemy with his bare hands makes our breath come fast, and our jaws snap with disappointment when the deed is interrupted by the intervention of Kathlyn. Then we snarl at the scenario man for balking us of our prey and immediately afterwards forgive him, knowing that he has further use for the fellow, although such may again contribute to our mental torture.

Another sensational scene in this set is the rescue of Kathlyn from the prison. A big baboon lights on a window sill of the prison one day, from a tree near by. The alert mind of Kathlyn sees in the presence of the creature a chance to communicate with her friends, Bruce and Ramabai. Ripping the insole from her shoe, she writes a short message on it and ties it around the ape's neck. The animal is caught by her friends and soon they are on the way to rescue her. Unable to remove the heavy iron bars from the window of her cell they attach a chain to them, and the big elephant pulls the entire window and a section of the solid masonry out. Colonel Hare is left behind, as his chains cannot be severed in the short time allowed.

Kathlyn's plot to release her father afterwards another thrill. Umballah is forced to write an order for his release, having been deceived to Kathlyn's hiding place by Pandita, where he is threatened with death by a fierce leopard. Afterward we see Kathlyn, her father and friends fleeing away from Alhambra, with Umballah and his soldiers in swift pursuit. Set No. 5 closes as Kathlyn is wounded in the arm by a bullet from Umballah's musket.

There were twelve churches represented at the meeting. The reports were very interesting. The Congregational church received the banner for largest per cent of attendance.

The report of nominating committee was adopted and the officers for the coming year are: President, Mrs. Kirven, S. Methodist; vice-president, Mrs. McClurkin, Reformed Presbyterian; recording secretary, Mrs. Henderson, United Presbyterian; literature secretary, Mrs. Chase, Episcopalian; treasurer, Mrs. Lee, First Methodist.

The meeting adjourned till the last Wednesday in April, 1915.

The following resolutions were adopted:

Inasmuch as the liquor traffic is the greatest hindrance to the progress of Christian missions, and inasmuch as this is a critical time for both this state and nation on the temperance question:

Resolved, that we, the Federated Missionary Societies of Santa Ana, pledge ourselves to work and vote to make our state cleaner and more fit in which to live, not only for our own people but for the foreign population that will come to us.

Believing that the moving picture shows and pool rooms are a menace to the conservation of the best moral and religious life of our youth, and we, as mothers, being their guardians, be it

Resolved, that this Federated Missionary Society raise its voice in protest against Sunday opening of pool rooms and moving picture shows.

Resolved, that the members of the Third Annual Federated Missionary Societies extend to the Congregational ladies thanks for the hospitalities extended to them throughout the day.

Resolved, that the members of the Santa Ana High School, has unusual interest in Mexican developments right now. His parents live at Los Mochis, he being here to go to school. There are about seventy Americans in the colony, which is situated twelve miles from Topolobampo, on the west coast. His father is a rancher. He thinks that with the present Mexican troubles, his mother will come to California, though his father expects to stay where he is for a time. The Americans think that they can get away quickly in case of trouble, as they are close to a seaport. There has been considerable fighting around them, and horses and saddles have been stolen from them.

TELEPHONE GIRLS ARE ENTERTAINED BY TWO OF THEM

ORANGE, April 30.—The Blue Bell Club of local telephone girls were delightfully entertained Tuesday evening by two of their members, Miss Eva Fearn and Miss Fern Warner, both of whom were celebrating their birthday anniversary. The affair was given at the home of Miss Fearn's uncle, George King, on South Center street.

Novel decorations of blue bells, and a color scheme of blue and white, all suggestive of the Blue Bell Club, turned the King home into a charming scene.

A merry evening was spent in games, music and various pastimes. Much amusement was gained from a "telephone" game, in which two real phones were used in various "stunts" and mimicry. An assortment of signs, "Number please," "Line is busy," and the like, were posted in conspicuous places through the rooms.

At a rather late hour a dainty two course luncheon was served, after which the gathering broke up.

The following were present: Miss Myrtle Hawkins, Miss Winifred Acker, Miss Lois Park, Miss Floe Hutchinson, Miss Wilda Claypool, Miss Marjorie Condon, Miss Alsie Schmetgen, Miss Edna Crow, Miss Pansy Hoge, Miss Bertha Peterkin, Miss Pearl Columbia, Miss Emma Wickersheim, Miss Catherine Spencer, Miss Fern Warner and Miss Eva Fearn.

G. W. Burch and family have moved from the ranch, which they recently sold to the Nutwood tract.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Lea Collins of East Collins avenue, are spending several days with friends in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Rose Gearhart, who has been spending some time in Orange, looking after her property, has returned to Lancaster.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Gregg of Long Beach and Harry Gregg of Honolulu arrived yesterday for a visit with their son and brother, W. S. Gregg, and wife, on North Shaffer street.

Alfred Shepherd, who has been living on South Grand street, this city, for several months, has gone to Oroville to visit his brother. He will probably locate in the northern part of the state.

Horace Lucy of North Glassell street arrived home last night after spending about two weeks in San Francisco and Stockton. He visited his son Howard in San Francisco.

Harry Ainscough and H. Z. Adams motored to Los Angeles on business yesterday.

E. J. Pierce has commenced the erection of a six room bungalow on East Washington avenue between Orange and Grand streets. The house will be fitted up as an apartment house and divided into two suites, each connected with private bath.

Earl Knesel of Alhambra, who is connected with the Security National Bank of Los Angeles, is a visitor at the home of his uncle, J. L. Knesel, of North Shaffer street.

Mrs. W. L. Carraker and daughter, Miss Ruby Carraker, will leave this evening for Ocean Park to visit their daughter and sister, Mrs. James Hanna and family until Sunday. Mr. Carraker will go down Saturday evening to return with them.

Mrs. Mary C. Jackson returned home from Santa Ana this morning.

Great-Grandnephew of Napoleon I Wed by Alderman

When Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte, great grandnephew of Napoleon I and great-grandson of Jerome, brother of the emperor, decided to wed Mrs. Harold Streibach the other day in New York the pair just went down to the City Hall, obtained a license and found Alderman "Happy" Jack Reardon. In ten minutes they were united, and it is probable that no Napoleon, including the emperor, has been married with less fuss.

Mrs. Streibach and Mr. Bonaparte arrived at the City Hall in a limousine car and went straight to the marriage license bureau in the basement. In his affidavit Mr. Bonaparte said he was thirty-six years old, resided at 1120 Vermont avenue, Washington, D. C., and had no occupation. He was born in Paris, France, his father being Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte, and his mother Caroline Appleton. He has never been married before.

Mrs. Streibach met her lawyer at the City Hall. He had a copy of the decree of Justice Manning in the Brooklyn Supreme Court, making her divorce absolute on April 3. The bride-elect swore that she was thirty-four years old, had no occupation, and lived at the Vanderbilt Hotel. She was born in Newtonville, Mass.

They made a very attractive looking couple. Mr. Bonaparte is a well set up man, tall, and wore a fancy check suit and an up-to-date hat, and carried a cane.

The bride is handsome, dark, vivacious and dashing. Her dress was dark blue silk, and she wore a sizable hat with a feather. Everybody at the City Hall agreed that she might be described as "chic." She is an accomplished dancer and is very fond of the new steps. She was in high spirits and the slick tile floor of the basement tempted her. So while waiting for certain ceremonial she showed Mr. Bonaparte some of the new steps.

ELY'S CREAM BALM OPENS CLOGGED NOSTRILS AND HEAD--CATARRH GOES

Instantly Clears Air Passages; You Breathe Freely, Nasty Discharge Stops, Head Colds and Dull Headache Vanish.

Try "Ely's Cream Balm." Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it. Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone. End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucus dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.—Advertisement at any drug store.

FOR THE WORKER IN SOIL

WASHINGTON, April 29.—The Department of Agriculture is becoming the home vegetable garden. Every suburbanite would be better off in devoting his time more to development of edibles than to monkeying with flowers in the plot back of his bungalow, according to the Department's experts.

A half acre devoted to various kinds of garden crops will easily supply a family with $100 worth of vegetables during the year. A bountiful supply of fresh vegetables close at hand, however, is of more importance even than the money value. The Department has just issued a handy little book, telling all needful things about the home garden.

First of all, the booklet advises that the land have sufficient fall to drain off surplus water during heavy rains, but not so much fall that the soil is washed away. The garden surface should not contain depressions where puddles can remain. A good fence around the plot is indispensable. The soil should be well plowed up and pulverized. Hand spading is unnecessary.

Nearly every city dweller sooner or later gets enthusiastic on the subject of chicken raising. So do the country dwellers, for that matter. There have been many wonderful stories of fortunes made out of chickens and egg production. But the prospective chicken raiser must learn his work and do things scientifically, if he expects to get profits.

One of the first things to be learned about chicken raising, in the opinion of the Department of Agriculture is the importance of proper housing for the fowls. The Department has just made public in a little booklet, experts' recommendations for a poultry house that is suitable to practically every climate.

Be it known there are two popular ways in which to raise poultry—the "intensive" and the "colony" systems. The first claims to have steps, long stationary houses are used. It is easier, however, to keep birds healthy and to reproduce stock under the second system, the Department believes.

Under the colony plan, the fowls are allowed free range, the houses, which hold about 100 hens each, being placed from 200 to 500 feet apart, so that the stock will not kill the grass.

This system may be adapted to severe winter conditions by drawing the colony houses together in a convenient place at the beginning of winter. The "intensive" system is more suited for hens used solely for the production of market eggs than for those used to breed stock.

Fences mean an outlay of money and this outlay is more or less continuous, as they must be maintained after being installed. There should be as few fences as possible dividing the lots and the yards, as land can be kept "sweet" more easily if not fenced, and fresh, sweet land is a valuable asset in poultry raising.

On good soil a greensward may be kept up allowing 200 to 250 square feet of land per bird. This means 217 or 174 birds to the acre. Plymouth Rocks and the other heavy variety meat birds in small yards require fences 5 to 6 feet high, while a fence 6 to 7 feet high is necessary for Leghorns.

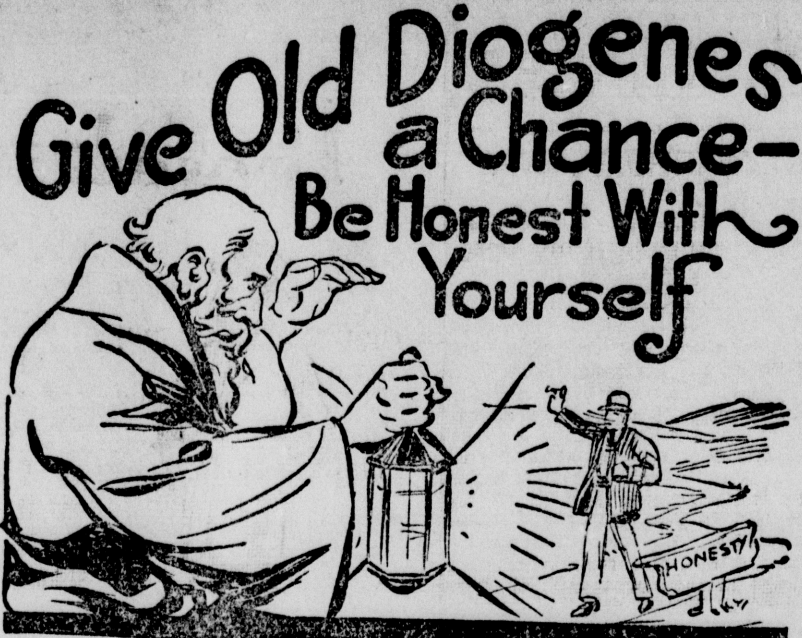

All poultry buildings and fences should be painted or whitewashed. The latter is the cheapest of all paints and may be used for exterior or interior surfaces. It can be made by mixing about 10 pounds of quicklime in a pail with 2 gallons of water, covering the pail with cloth or burlap and allowing it to slake for one hour. Water is then applied to bring the whitewash to a consistency which may be applied readily.

The Horticultural Board is out with a warning against seed found in bales of imported Egyptian cotton. Faulty ginning occasionally leaves these seeds. They should be burned, as the larvae of the pink boll worm may be contained in the seeds. This pest is very destructive to American cotton. Ginning and storing does not kill the larvae. The "bugs" have been found to withstand seven months storage in cotton.

A strict quarantine has always been maintained against the pink boll worm. An agent of the Horticultural Board is now visiting northern and southern mills to investigate the amount of infection by the worm in cotton introduced from Egypt.

CHILDREN WHO ARE SICKLY

Mothers who value their own comfort and the welfare of their children, should never be without a box of Mother Gray's Sweet Powders for Children, for use throughout the season. ## AT THE COURTHOUSE IS PAID $500 FOR FINGERS

Settlement Made by Sugar Company for Injuries to Youth

Jerome Bros. Sue Insurance Company to Get Their Money Back

The Santa Ana Co-Operative Sugar
Company has paid $500 to Pedro A.
Infante, a boy, aged about 16, for an injury received by him while employed in the sugar factory at Dyer.
The Mexican lad was engaged in feeding beets to a machine that ground test beets into pulp so that the chemists might make the analysis, and in some manner one hand caught in the machine with the result that four fingers were cut off. Suit for damages asked for a judgment of $15,100. A.

R. Holston of Los Angeles represented the plaintiff. Pablo L. Infante has asked for letters of guardianship that he may receive the money.

Articles Filed
Today articles of incorporation were filed by the Huttenlocher Co.
The directors are Wm. F. and Emma Lutz of Santa Ana and William H.
Huttenlocher of Chicago. The capital stock is $28,000.

Case Settled
Today a stipulation of dismissal was entered in the action brought by J. W. Allen as administrator of the estate of F. C. Allen against the Santa Fe railroad. The stipulation states that $200 was paid Allen in settlement of the case. F. C. Allen was killed at the Santa Fe depot here, and his father, who lives in San Diego brought the action for damages.

Insurance Suit
Today W. C. and B. W. Jerome brought an action against the Massachusetts Bonding & Insurance Company for $1950. On November 14, 1912, the insurance company gave Jerome
Bros., ranchers, a policy for $5,000, covering possible injuries to employees.
On May 26, 1913, Sid Smithwick, while working on the Jerome Bros.
ranch at Myford, was kicked by a mule

REV. SETH C. REES, THE QUAKER EVANGELIST

and Smithwick's leg was fractured.
Smithwick sued, and secured judgment for $2502.20 against Jerome
Bros. as damages for the injuries received, the insurance company having refused to make good under its policy.
As a compromise judgment $1950 was paid Smithwick, and it is for that sum that Jerome Bros. now sue the company. Williams & Ruten are attorneys for the plaintiff.

Chapman Suing
C. C. Chapman has brought suit against the Fullerton Hospital Asso-

IN THE JUSTICE COURT

SPEEDERS ALL LOOK ALIKE, FINED ALIKE

Justice Cox Gives Motorcyclist and Automobilist Same Dose

Justice Cox thinks it is just as bad for a motorcyclist to speed as it is for an automobilist.

"You'd be killed by one just as quick as the other," declared Justice Cox this morning after he had fined a motorcyclist $5 for speeding and an automobilist $5 for a like offense.

This is the first time that the justice has had the question before him.
In a number of cities magistrates make it a practice to fine auto speeders twice the sum usually fixed for motorcyclists. Justice Cox cannot see any justice in that. Each is a law breaker, and each breaks the same law.

Henry Timkins was the motorcyclist.
He was travelling on the state highway between Santa Ana and Anaheim when Motorcycle Officer Davenport took his speed at forty miles an hour.
Walter Eisenbraun was the automobilist. He was clambering along at the rate of thirty-five miles an hour when he was shocked by the command of the officer to stop.

The justice says it is not going to make any difference to him who comes in, the fine is going to be the same for all first offenders. As yet no second offender has been brought in. What the price for second capture is going to be has, therefore, not been determined.

For Disturbance
Felipe Ballerters, a Mexican, was taken to jail for a drunken disturbance at the corner of Fourth and Main streets. His trial is set for tomorrow.

LOCALS JOIN TROLLEY LEAGUE

Remaining Games of Series
Taken Over from Mother Colony

GAMES FAILED TO DRAW AT ANAHEIM

L. A. Railway Company Club to Meet Moose Here
Sunday

Local bleacher bugs will have ample opportunity to see some fast games at the new Moose ball pasture on Fruit street, east of the Santa Fe tracks. Arrangements were completed yesterday whereby Deck's team will finish out for Anaheim the schedule of the Southern California Trolley League. The Moose team has taken over the remaining games of the series in the league for the reason that the attendance at the Anaheim games was not sufficient. The first game to be played by the Moose will be on the local lot this coming Sunday, May 3, with the Los Angeles Railway Company club.

The move on Deck's part will undoubtedly prove a good one because the Trolley League has on its list some of the snappiest teams in the Angel City. All the teams are nicely uniformed, and they never fail to put up a first-class performance. There are about five games left in the series, two of which will call the local team out of town. Redondo is one of the towns the Moose will have to visit.

Judging from the goods delivered at the Moose ball yard last Sunday, Deck's men should have but little trouble in holding down opposing teams to few if any runs.

Midge Brown put up a corking exhibition of flinging despite the fact that Sunday's game was practically the first game he has played in for a year. The Santa Fe Shops team pried only four hits off the Midge in the innings. The "Birdie" clouters faced Brown thirty times and nine times the local twirler made them fan the breeze. The Midge uses his dome at all stages of the game and that is why very few things are ever slipped over on him.

The whole team showed up extremely well, considering that the game Sunday was practically the first wherein the entire force had a chance to work together. Shultz poked out a two and a three-bagger. Freeman and West each had two-baggers chalked down in their favor. Carver got the credit of prodding out the only homer made Sunday.

In fact, take it all in all, should the locals keep up the rapid pace set Sunday they should worry. A week from Sunday the Moose will cross bats with the Apprentices of the San Bernardino Santa Fe Shops. The game will be played here. This team is said to be far ahead of the regular Shops team for speed.

NEW YORK, April 29.—Johnny Dundee of Scotland was expected to win easily in his scheduled ten-round bout with Young Brown tonight at the Stadium A. C., which will be held in St. Nicholas Park.

IN WRONG GARDEN
GARDEN GROVE, April 29.—The Colored Giants of Los Angeles who were coming to play ball Saturday made a blundering mistake by going to Gardena in place of coming to Garden Grove. Another game is scheduled for next Saturday.

LOCAL DRUGGIST MAKES MANY FRIENDS

—The Rowley Drug Company reports they are making many friends through the QUICK benefit which Santa Ana people receive from the simple mixture of buckhorn bark, glycerine, etc., known as Adler-Eka. This remedy became famous by curing appendicitis and it is the most thorough bowel cleanser known, acting on BOTH the lower and upper bowel. JUST ONE DOSE OF Adler-Eka relieves constipation and gas on the stomach almost IMMEDIATELY. —Advertisement.

Three New Managers in National League Now

Hank O'Day
Wilbert Robinson
Charlie Herzog

The National League will see three new managers this season. Hank O'Day is piloting the Cubs in place of Johnny Evers, Wilbert Robinson takes the place of "Bad Bill" Dahlen as manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, and Charlie Herzog steps into Joe Tinker's place with Cincinnati. O'Day is struggling hard to make the Cubs a pennant contender this year, as they used to be in the past; he believes he has accomplished something so far. Robinson has hopes of lifting the Brooklyn Dodgers into the first division, while Herzog does not know what he will accomplish with the Reds.

O'Day has had wide experience as an umpire. He also served a term in Cincinnati, where they have a new manager every two years. Robinson has been the right-hand man of John McGraw in the management of the Giants, pennant holders in the National League. Baseball men think he will follow some of the methods which have made McGraw successful. Herzog will have a difficult task to please the directors of his club—every other manager tried there had found it impossible. He learned most of his baseball from McGraw, and will be expected to use some of the knowledge he gained with the Giants.

WILLIE HOPPE IS BILLIARD CHAMPION

Triple Champ, Holding Title in Three Styles of Play

By defeating Calvin Demarest of Chicago 400 to 196, in the final game of the world's professional championship tournament at 14.1 ball-line billiards, Willie Hoppe Tuesday night became a triple champion, holding the title to each of the three styles of ball-line play.

His victory gives him possession of the silver trophy for the 14.1 game and in addition to 40 per cent of the $3000 cash prizes, entrance fees and gate receipts. Hoppe won all seven of his matches and Demarest met with his only defeat Tuesday night, winning six out of seven games.

Hoppe made a run of 145 in his fourth inning, followed with 56 in his next turn, while 61 in his ninth gave him a lead of nearly 200 points over Demarest, who had gathered 134 caroms in his first five innings.

SCORES REPORTED AT BLUE ROCK SHOOT

Anaheim Herald: The following scores were made yesterday by members of the Anaheim Blue Rock Gun Club, out of a possible 25: Ed Mitchell, 25; P. Firman, 23; Clark Scott, 20; Frank Maurerian, 19; Peter Wisner, 19; Roe, 19; Roy Gardner, 19; John Bush, 18; Jockson, 18; Ira McAuley, 15; Harry Mahan, 11; Earl Vanatta, 9. Mitchell holds the Pacific Coast record for 118 straight, while Firman has a record of 289 out of a possible 300.

POLY FACULTY AND SENIORS TO HAVE BALL GAME SOON

In the near future a novice game is to be played on the Polytechnic diamond between the faculty and the seniors of the high school. In this game no senior who is a member of the regular school baseball nine may participate. The date for this game has not yet been decided upon.

TROUT FISHING NOT GOOD FOR MONTH YET

Trout fishing in the mountain streams will not be good for another month yet, according to the opinion of the experts who have been investigating the matter. The heavy and persistent winter rains of the past winter washed many of the fish far down stream and it will be some time before they are able to return.

Good catches have been made at certain points but the sport in general has not been up to the standard of previous years. There are plenty of big fish in Bear Lake, but the trip there is a long and hard one and but few of the local nimrods can spare the time for it.—Los Angeles Examiner.

LOZIER SALES ARE ON THE INCREASE

R. L. Draper, the local Lozier agent, has been seized by the enthusiasm prevalent among the Lozier dealers throughout the country. An example of the Lozier enthusiasm is shown in a letter from President J. M. Gilbert of the Lozier company, in which he said:

"Nineteen-fourteen is the biggest year in the history of the Lozier Motor Company. Up to April 1 we had produced and sold more Loziers in 1914 than during the first six months of last year. In February we established the highest record for sales since we began the manufacture of automobiles. March sales exceeded February by a wide margin and our April sales will undoubtedly wipe out all previous records in volume."

"Our March sales were actually 142 per cent ahead of sales in the corresponding period of a year ago. We have to rub our eyes occasionally to realize the unparalleled growth of the business."

TENNIS DELEGATES FOR TOURNAMENT

It is more than likely that Isabelle Anderson and Melton Hatch will represent Santa Ana on May 16 at the Southern California Tennis Tournament to be held at Pasadena to decide the championship of the high schools of the south. Elimination try-outs are to be played here soon, and then the local representatives will be decided upon, though there is no great doubt but that the two players mentioned will be the ones to represent Santa Ana.

VULCANIZING WORKS IS INSTALLING NEW ELECTRICAL PLANT

The Santa Ana Vulcanizing Works is installing an entirely new electric department for automobiles, which when completed will be as good as there is anywhere. The electric part of the plant will be in charge of H. L. Howard who arrived this week from Detroit, where he held the position of electrical tester in the Lozier automobile factory. Mr. Howard is said to be an expert at locating any of the electrical troubles with which automobiles may be afflicted and at remedying them. The electric plant is expected to be in operation soon after May first.

TO HAVE TEACHERS AND PREACHERS IN BASEBALL TUSSLE

Some time within the next two weeks a baseball game is to be played on the Polytechnic grounds between the teachers of the city and the preachers. The receipts from the game are to go to the Spanish Mission fund of the city. Rev. Paul E. Wright is to be the leader of the theologians while Coach Ratcliffe will captain the pedagogues. The date of the game is to be announced later. It is quite possible that the winners of the set-to will play the lawyers of the city. The game is bound to attract a big crowd. Two years ago when the teachers played the preachers the game drew one of the largest crowds ever in attendance at Lincoln school grounds.

WEST END GARAGE CO. REPORTS BIG SALES

The West End Garage Company reports a goodly list of sales for Ford cars for the month of April and states that the prospects for future sales were never brighter. The local concern has a number of cars booked for May delivery and everything points towards a big season, if not a record-breaker.

The following is a list of deliveries made during April: Taylor Bush, Olive; Elwood Coate, Orange; Roy W. Peacock, Laguna Beach; two cars, a roadster and a touring car; J. B. Handy, Orange; H. J. Harkleroad, T. L. Hill, Willis Faust, J. B. Head, Dr. H. E. Zaiser, Wm. P. Wendelkin, Santa Ana Wholesale Grocery Company, all of Santa Ana; E. A. Kinney, Orange. The company has also sold a number of second-hand cars during the month.

THE REPEATERS IN ORGANIZED BALL

Let us lamp the repeaters in organized ball, says Ernest J. Laidigan in the Sporting News. Sherwood Magee, the quarrelsome captain of the shot-to-pieces Quakers, is one of them. Previously I think I have called attention to the fact that Sherwood, whenever he bats against Richard W. Marquardt, hits with the same fervor that Joe Tinker used to against Christy Mathewson. The dope shows that when Magee first batted against the noted vaudevillian and the author of 19 straight in 1913, which was on May 5, he twice poled the ball out of the lot, just as he did in the pro-off game of 1914 against the same individual.

Two more repeaters are Walter Perry Johnson of the Nationals and Ray W. Collins of the Red Sox. Whenever these two great exponents of the flinging art hook up the whitewash is sure to be spilled. They faced each other four times last year and on each occasion one team was blanked. On April 23 Washington took six runs and Boston none; on May 30 Boston one tally and Washington none; on July 3 Washington one tally and Boston none, and on August 28 Boston one tally and Washington none. Of the last two mentioned dates the contests ran into overtime, the first going 15 innings, the second 11.

POMONA REFUSED TO PLAY OUTSIDE TEAMS

The athletic management of Pomona College has decided that their football team will not play any post season games next year, says the Los Angeles Times. Occidental and U. S. C. are both planning to bring in at least one outside team and perhaps two. Both favor bringing the University of Colorado, the Rocky mountain champions, for games early in December or for New Year's and Christmas dates. There is also a possibility that they will arrange dates for the University of Washington.

GEORGES CARPENTIER, FRENCH LIGHT HEAVYWEIGHT, WHO MUST SACRIFICE PUGILISM TO THE FRENCH ARMY

Georges Carpentier, who is undoubtedly the best fighter so far produced on the continent of Europe, must enter the French army in September, and for three years he must give up boxing. In that time Carpentier might earn a quarter of a million dollars in the ring.

Of course, inasmuch as he is only nineteen years of age, he believes that he will be as good if not better after his three years. He will, of course, have grown heavier and stronger. But few pugilists have lain off three years and found themselves able to come back as good as ever.

POLY-ORANGE SCRAP FOR CHAMPIONSHIP STARTS SATURDAY

Next Saturday at Orange, Santa Ana and Orange High have their first "scrap" for the county championship. Both teams have had smooth going so far. Orange trounced Anaheim and Fullerton but has not yet met Huntington Beach except in a practice game. However, every fan conceded the game to the Orange team so that the game of next Saturday is the beginning of the end.

Santa Ana has been showing a "come back" in form in the weeks since vacation. The first evidence was the 4-1 "win" over Fullerton, and then trimming Huntington Beach the same week 12-4. Evidence number three was the "lop-sided set-to" with Anaheim of last week when the Poly boys ran wild on the bases and with the stick to the tune of 15-2.

Orange has a well-balanced team that has been playing fast ball for months. Before Santa Ana started practice the Orange team was picked and putting up real "clashes." The team is made up of a bunch that has been together for three and four years, seven of the team being four-year men. Anyway they are playing real ball, judging by the showing it has made all winter against strong teams from Los Angeles.

Coach Ratcliffe has had to make a team out of practically new material. Only one of last year's regulars is playing in his old position—Captain Carver, over at third. Fred Corliss was moved from second to first. Lee Brown was pulled in from utility man to be the "big mitter" and Duhart taken from short to be a "box artist."

WALTER JOHNSON PRAISES YANKS

Los Angeles Times: Walter Johnson says he never saw such an improvement in a club as Frank Chance has shown with the New Yorks in the short year that he has been at the helm. "It was about the worst ball team I ever saw a year ago," said Johnson. "Now any one that beats it will know that he was in a battle. I was certainly surprised by the fight and spirit of the Chance kids. I want to say right here that the Peerless Leader has a real ball team, and that when he makes one or two changes, which are inevitable he will be even stronger. New York should be patient. Already he has accomplished wonders."

Doo Scanlon Reinstated.

The national baseball commission has reinstated Player W. D. Scanlon into good standing in organized baseball. Scanlon, who was released by the Brooklyn National league club to the Philadelphia Nationals, stated that he did not report to Philadelphia last season owing to a desire to practice medicine at his home. The player's application for reinstatement had the endorsement of both the Brooklyn and Philadelphia National league clubs.

"Spud" Morrison played in a few games last year but all the rest are new men. "Bill" Warren, upon whom the coach depended for the heavy end of the box work, developed a lame shoulder that has put him out of the early county games and for a time set the dope. Pete Duhart, however, came with the goods and pitched glittered ball against Fullerton and Anaheim, while Ralph Shallenberger gave the Beches all that was coming to them. Of the new men Cannon and Snow have shown up well at second and short. "Spud" Morrison has delivered the goods in center, Elliott and Thompson are still after left field, while Joe Irvine, in right, has been the stealer of the team. His average for the season so far is over .500. Of the subs, Frank Biggs deserves mention for his hard practice and sticking to the team. He is sure to make the team next year.

With the team going good the coach isn't afraid of Orange running up a big score. The thing that is worrying him is whether Santa Ana will be able to cross the rubber. The team is being given a lot of batting practice. Bill Warren, "Lefty" Biggs and "Brownie" West have been serving up their slants to the boys. The way they have been landing on them isn't the most encouraging thing, either. It doesn't look like championship stuff. Two more evenings of practice will help some, though.

The line-up of the team hasn't been settled for Saturday. The box end of it may be handled by a left-hander. The prospect is good for a big delegation to Orange from Poly High.

SOME PITCHING DOPE ABOUT TWO SENATORS

The Washington Club of the American League possesses two pitchers this year that led two different leagues last season in the number of strike-outs and in the smallest number of bases on balls given opposing batters in comparison with the whiffed batsmen falling victims to their curves, says the Sporting News. They are Walter Johnson and Yancy Wyatt Ayers.

THE ATHLETE'S BURDEN

It is an ancient baseball story. He leans upon a cane. And when he tries to walk he sighs. As if it gives him pain.

"And was it baseball, sir," quoth I, "That put you on the friz, And made you lame and bent your frame And crippled both your mitts?"

"Oh, nix, kind sir," he doth aver, "It wasn't that at all. It never hurt to hit the dirt. Or land upon the ball."

"But when the Feds came butting in And tempted me to join It bent my frame and made me lame To carry all my coin."

MOOSE STAGE 5 BOXING BOUTS

Good-Sized Crowd Was in Attendance at Successful Affair

MUSIC FURNISHED
BETWEEN BOUTS

Hetton, in Six-Round Go, Gives Yants All He Can Do

A series of five cards of boxing bouts was put on last night by the Moose lodge at the club rooms on East Fourth street. A good-sized crowd was in attendance and the affair was successful from every standpoint. The Mitchell orchestra furnished music between bouts.

Danny Sullivan and Tom Thatcher, at 105 pounds, started with the best of intentions to go the four-round route. The bout only got as far as the second, for Thatcher was much too clever for Sullivan. From the first it was plain to see that Thatcher had his opponent out-pointed. The blow that put Sullivan under did not appear to be a hard one. However, he was groggy enough not to be able to get up until after the referee had counted ten.

Affair No. 2 was a four-round match between Eddie Fahey and Heinie Boos, at 123 pounds. Round one was fairly even. Rounds two and three were Boos' and the fourth was even. The bout was a draw. Boos did much the cleanest work of the pair.

The third bout of the evening was one between Paddy Mills and Kid Rice, at 115 pounds. The bout resulted in a draw at the end of the fourth and last round. Mills was the aggressor in this debate, revolving in a circle with Rice in the center of the ring as a pivot. However, Mills failed to do the Kid any damage. Rice is built like a boiler maker and with a little more aggressiveness should make a first class boxer.

Abe Sherman and Freddie Cahill went four rounds at 125 pounds to a decision for Sherman. Sherman had it on Cahill from the start. The latter was as game as they make them, but he could not do much against the greater experience and craftiness of Sherman.

What was called the main event of the evening was staged last. It was a six round catch weights go between Harry Yants, at about 133 pounds, and Burrell Hetton, who weighed in at between 125 and 128 pounds. In spite of the fact that Hetton is considerably lighter in weight and that Yants has him on the reach the former put up one of the most clever boxing exhibitions ever seen in this city. Hetton had Yants worried at nearly every stage of the game. His cleverness at blocking and quick shifting made the bout a great deal more even than it was at first thought was possible. The bout was called a draw, a decision that completely satisfied the fans.

HOW CLYDE MILAN BECAME CHAMPION

"Milan the Marvel" is the title of an article in the May Baseball Magazine, in which the fleet-footed Washington star is called the "Flying Mercury of the Diamond, the man who shattered the American League record, the greatest base-runner of the decade." Milan, who was born in Tennessee, rounds out that famous quartet of southern stars whose other members are Tris Speaker, Ty Cobb and Joe Jackson, a "Big Four" of outer gardeners, so the article states, who have no equal in either league.

Milan, whose real name is Jesse Clyde, was signed by the Washington Club in 1907 at the same time that Walter Johnson cast in his lot with the then lowly Senators. Prospects have brightened up a bit since that episode, but Johnson and Milan, the men mainly responsible for the success, have been inseparable pals ever since. Milan, so the story goes, when a small boy, didn't take very kindly to work, and when his father called his attention to this defect in his character and the result it would have on his future prospects, I, Clyde, promptly met the argument by saying that "when he grew up he intended to become a big league ball player." He must have changed his mind, however, on the work proposition, for he has been going at a record clip ever since he joined forces with the big show.

Clark Griffith comes forward with these illuminating remarks:

Clyde Milan is the greatest base-stealer in the game. His record proves it. He deserves to be called the greatest, and I am glad to do what I can toward getting him the title. There was a time when Bescher was the best in the business. He was a fine fellow and I was glad to see him have so much success. But Milan has beat him now at his own game; there is no doubt about it.

Two years ago he broke the American League record by stealing 88 bases. He would have had 91 if one game in St. Louis had not been thrown out on account of rain. Last year he didn't do quite so well, but he led both leagues. If he could hit as well as Cobb or Collins, and get to first as often, he would steal 100 bases.

The following sage remarks of the great base runner, labelled "Maxims of Milan," are gleaned from the article:

Base-stealing is far more of an art or science than most people imagine. However fast a man may be, there is always something for him to learn. I am learning all the time and consider myself still a beginner.

There are three distinct operations in stealing a base. First the lead, second the sprint and third the slide. The start is the most important of the three.

It is this more than anything else which shows whether a player has it in him to become a great base-runner.

The base-stealer, like the batter, is always trying to outguess the pitcher. Base-stealing is largely a game of bluff on both sides. I have often got a commanding lead and stolen a base when all I originally intended to do was to worry the pitcher.

Every pitcher has a bluff motion in winding up before delivering a ball to the batter.

Many fast men are poor base-stealers.

Many good base-stealers are not fast.

A good sprinter does not mean a good base-runner.

The sprinter starts from a crouching position and at a given signal.

The base-stealer starts from an upright position and has to time his own start to the fraction of a second.

Cobb is perhaps the most reckless base-stealer in the game, but he never gets injured.

I sprained both ankles myself learning the hook slide, but I haven't sprained them since I learned it. I always slide feet first.

Sliding loses time, but gives the runner a chance to dodge being tagged by a baseman.

Cobb will beat a slow man by a stride on sheer speed between first and second bases.

Speed is an advantage to any base-stealer; a necessity to the top-notchers.

At the same time speed alone will not make a good base-stealer.

More important than speed is the ability to slide.

Sliding bases is dangerous only to the man who does not know how.

Rain robbed me of three stolen bases in a game in 1912.

The individual player must always subordinate his own interests to the interests of the club.

Batting is the greatest of the outfielder's talents.

I consider Tris Speaker the greatest outfielder in the game.

The hardest pitcher for me to face is Plank of the Athletics.

I have battled against Johnson in practice games with fair success, but I consider him the greatest pitcher in the game.

Earl Hamilton, Pitcher, Taken by the Federals

When Ban Johnson, president of the American League, learned that George Stovall, manager of the Kansas City team of the Federal League, had taken Earl Hamilton, who was signed to pitch this year for the American League club of St. Louis, he declared war.

"The American League will stop Hamilton if it takes every dollar in the treasury," said Johnson. "He signed a most liberal three-year contract with the St. Louis Browns, and nothing will be left undone to check him for his wilful violation of his contract."

Stovall's taking of a player from the St. Louis Americans was done with the sanction of the Federal League, President Gilmore said.

"Organized baseball tried to wreck Stovall's Kansas City club and took away Blanding and Baumgartner, who had signed legal contracts with him," said Gilmore. "Therefore, I gave the Kansas City club permission to deal with members of the St. Louis team, whether they had signed contracts or not."

"If organized ball goes into court over Hamilton's jumping and the courts give him back to the Browns then the same decision will return Blanding and Baumgartner and Hogue to us. Besides Hamilton there are four or five members of the St. Louis Americans wanted by Stovall and he has my full sanction to get them if he can."

Sporting Briefs of the Week

[By Hal Sheridan]

NEW YORK, April 30.—As no doubt old man Socrates remarked as he gently eased himself off from all turmoil and strife, how different are the days of April and October. After the stuttering start due to interruptions by rain May will see a beginning of the jockeying at the turn and a better opportunity will be afforded toward getting some sort of a line as to who's who in this mad scramble for the American and National League pennants.

The erstwhile leaders started with a wobble. The general dope didn't any more hit on the early games than the majority of the guesses as to what the Giant pitchers would do to the Athletics last October. How different are the days of April and October!

The real surprise in the American League has been dished up by Frank Chance. His New York Yankees are a revelation as compared with the team which struggled along last year and went from April until June without winning a game on their home grounds. Not that Chance may be a pennant contender, for again the difference between April and October looms up, but the spirit and general work of the present Yanks makes former teams hiding behind that name look like a collection from the morgue.

Opening the season the rejuvenated Yanks ripped the hide off the Athletics twice in succession. Connie Mack's clan, it is true, was not near up to form, but Chance's men tore into them just as though they had finished con-ping a pennant and were out to lick the world. There was no faltering, but a steady, boring attack and a stubbornness on defense that checked the Mackmen on the same field where they ran wild with the Giants—last October.

The Yanks are due to make trouble for more than one team in the league if they hold the gall they cut out for themselves at the start. In Malsel at third and Beckinpough at short, the left side of the Yanks' infield compares favorably with the best. Williams, at first, sat in on the old assignment of Hal Chase as though it were the only thing he had been awaiting to do this sphere and intended to make a good job of it. Chance's outfield has been completely worked over and the P. L. appears to have re-gearred his pitchers. If they continue without bursting a main spring or jarring loose some bolts the Yanks may give a few uneasy hours to aspiring pennant chasers as the season wears along and knock loudly at the first division. Where they will really finish, however, may be better told in these dispatches along during the season of that proverbial "bright, blue weather," for, as has been remarked before, how different are the days.

At the start, at least, the Phillies in the National League showed more strength than was expected, in view of the rough way in which the Federates Charlie Doolin in grabbing men. The Giants started slow and the Phillies walloped them twice. Then even Mathewson got his when he stacked up against Brooklyn. The Boston Braves, expected to be one of the most improved teams in the parent organization, also faltered with the springing of the barrier.

With but few exceptions pitching arms seemed to be in better shape than batting eyes. The swatting lamps were sadly in need of trimming, but as the sun's rays begin to warm up so are the sluggers steaming along toward their jobs of piling up base hits.

Walter Johnson is one exception so far as pitchers are concerned. The Kansas cyclone appears to be starting out on his greatest year in baseball. In his first two games Johnson allowed just one run. He shut out the Boston Braves with three hits. The Yanks slipped over one run one him, but collected only four safe drives. Johnson met them, too, when they were flushed with confidence after having laced the daylight out of the Athletics. Walter simply stood up and shot over his benders as though no one was at the plate, and save for those four occasions when a Yank took a stab and met one head on, there might as well not have been.

Francis Ouimet, American open golf champion, struck a mental hard in England and sat down to think his way over it before mixing in too many matches. Ouimet said he did not think he was primed for real play. He therefore engaged in some mental callisthenics.

Possibly that was the trouble with the Giants and Athletics at the start. Frank Baker's first effort on the Polo Grounds since he faced the Giant pitchers in October was a weak roller to short. He was an easy out. Time should have been taken out for Baker to contemplate the spot in which he placed his home run smash off Marquard. It might have been an inspiration.

A Real Lozier --This Light Lozier Four

THIS NEW LOZIER FOUR is made just like all Loziers always have been made—conscientiously and intelligently, and with no concessions to popular clamor or the direction others are going at the moment.

THIS IS A FOUR BECAUSE our engineering knowledge said it must be a four—should be a four—if we were to make a car to fill the demands of thousands who asked for a Lozier, a seven-passenger car, and yet set the limit they wanted to pay "around $2000."

AND THIS LOZIER FOUR IS LIGHT—just as light as sound engineering practice will permit. But in making it light our engineers stopped before they reached the danger line—even the doubtful line.

OF COURSE IF YOU WANT A SIX—feel you can afford the difference in upkeep cost—by all means you should buy one. BUT DON'T BUY A CHEAP SIX—buy a real Six, or buy a real Four.

AND WHEN YOU'VE INSPECTED this new Lozier four critically, ridden in it—and we defy you to tell after twelve miles per hour whether you are riding in a six or a four—when you've asked all the Lozier owners you know about Lozier cars generally, you'll decide you don't want a cheap six, but a first class four—A Lozier Four that will stay good.

LITTLE BITS OF SPORTING CHAT

Glants' Big Four Can Be Counted on to Make Trouble.

MIKE DONLIN A COMEBACK.

Griffith "Spends" Another $100,000. Gilmore Gets Peaved—Dick Egan, Globe Girdler, Must Have Visited Fount of Rejuvenation—Texas Fans Root For the Braves.

By ODGERS T. GURNEE.

The Giants' big four—Matty, Marquard, Tesreau and Demaree—are going great guns right now, and all doubt of the National league finish is settled in Manager McGraw's mind. If Wiltse, Schupp, Schauer and Hearne come across with a victory now and then the New Yorkers should set a record, as Muggsy says he can count on 100 victories from his all star quartet.

If mighty Mike Donlin can keep up his hitting streak against major league pitchers he will have the fans crazy. Mike is one of our greatest little comebacks.

Clark Griffith is reported to have insured Walter Johnson's right arm for $100,000. Wonder if it is the same hundred thousand he offered for Ty Cobb?

President Gilmore rises to remark that Tom Seaton will do what the Federal league tells him to do and not what he wishes. Just another sign that the "outlaws" are rapidly approaching major league estate.

Dick Egan's trip around the world evidently did him a lot of good. Dick almost left the majors last year after proving a disappointment in Cincinnati, but as a Brooklyn Superba he seems to have taken a new lease on life.

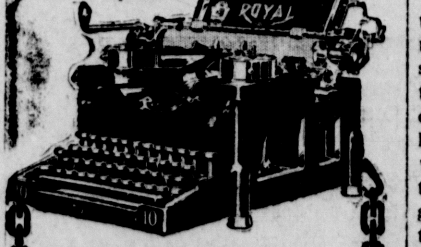

A record breaking drive of 278 yards was made recently by James Braid in competition against Vardon, Duncan et al. Pin these figures in your hat and have a comeback when one of your golfing acquaintances forces you into a corner and dilates on that 350 yard drive.

Practically every baseball fan in Texas who follows the big leagues is pulling for the Boston Braves to win the pennant in the National despite the Giants' great popularity around Marlin. Here's the answer: Stallings is the only major league leader at present who has seen service in a Texas uniform. Stallings caught on the Galveston club of the Texas league in 1888. A great many of the Lone Star Staters figure the Braves as much stronger than the Pirates and expect them to prove the real opposition to McGraw.

Miss Gladys Ravenscroft, national woman's golf champion, who recently returned for England, may not be able to return to this country and defend her title.

"We have had the time of our lives, and we have been received most graciously and welcomed most cordially. It scarcely seems six months ago since we left England," said Miss Ravenscroft.

Dowager Empress of Japan Dies, Aged 64

Dowager Empress Haruko of Japan, aged sixty-four, is dead. She was the widow of Emperor Mutsuhito. She had done much for the women of Japan, and the freedom now theirs is largely due to her. She struggled long to free them from the old customs and laws by which they had been almost slaves. This came about through studying the civilization of Europe and America, which she took up with the Emperor. She was responsible for many foreign customs introduced into the life of the court.

verscroft. "Do you know, I am keen to come back, but I don't know whether I can or not. It is a wonderful country, this, and I love it."

If Miss Ravenscroft does return for the tournament it will mean another finish fight with Miss Marion Hollins, the runner up last year. She has improved a great deal on her match play and is confident of bringing the title to America.

In a survey of the teams that are expected to compete in this year's Davis cup matches Austral, the well known Sydney lawn tennis writer, taking it for granted that the Australasian team will meet the United States in the challenge round, says about the chances of his own countrymen:

"Unless something very untoward happens Brookes and Wilding will be very shortly engaging Parke and his teammates in England, and if the world's critics anticipate truly the victorious Australian team will travel across the herring pond to engage the present holders of the famous Davis cup, and without being too much led away by Americans' anticipations we hope that the quest will prove successful."

"A team chosen from Brookes, Wilding, Dunlop, Doust, A. B. Jones and, it may be, E. F. Parker will be very hard to defeat. But pride goeth, as it went last November, before a fall. At any rate, our team will try hard and accept either fortune with equanimity as good sportsmen, not usually puffed up by success nor cast down by defeat."

Very well spoken, but any team that attempts to wrest the honors from the pick of such men as McLaughlin, Williams, Strachan, Johnson and Johnstone will have to play better tennis than that shown in any previous international match.

Supporting the time honored contention that there is nothing new under the sun comes a statement from the south that the famous hidden ball trick in football was not the brain child of Glenn Warner when his Carlisle Indian team sprang it on Harvard way back in the nineties. According to a player in the Auburn-Vanderbilt game of 1895, the trick was pulled for the first time on that day.

In telling of the play, he says: "This play was first used in the Auburn-Vanderbilt game in 1895, which was played in a sea of mud and a driving rain, and by the use of this trick I succeeded in getting away for a sixty yard run and a touchdown, which, by the way, was the only touchdown we made in the game and the only touchdown I scored during my football career."

"The origin of this play was an accident, pure and simple. One night about the middle of the season the coach said: 'Boys, I had a kid ask me once if it was against the rules to hide the ball, and while I don't see anything against it, I do not see how the trick could be worked.'"

"For a minute or two there was silence, which was broken by our captain, who said, 'I've got it. Why not stick the ball under your jersey?'"

"Hardly were the words out of his mouth before I was in the next room, where I pulled on a jersey and, slipping a football under the front of it, walked proudly back into the room. Before we adjourned that night we had worked out the trick as we afterward used it. After we found out that the ball could be concealed easily and quickly, the only thing remaining was to so arrange a formation which would cover up the trick and then to draw the opponents off so that I could have a chance to get away."

NEWS OF THE BOXING WORLD

Joe Harang Being Groomed to Beat Johnny Kilbane.

SOUTHERN FEATHER A STAR

Some One Should Teach Young Jack O'Brien How to Hit—One of the Cleverest Welterers in the Game, but Lacks Offensive Power—Jack Blackburn Right There.

Classy featherweights are few and far between at present and the crop is shy of the class possessed by Johnny Kilbane. Promoters and sport scribes throughout the country have searched in vain for a boy of sufficient class to promise development into a championship possibility. The majority of featherweights of the present are near lightweight, scarcely able to do better than 124 at 3 o'clock and who could never make 122 at ringside.

Besides all of these boys are small in stature and of the slugging type and few possess any real class. Down in New Orleans they're boosting a youngster that has real promise, to judge from his performances against the featherers who rank next to the champion. Only recently this boy, Joe Harang, won referee decisions over Cal Delaney and Gene Delmont at Memphis, which is certainly proof of some class, for Delaney has beaten Matt Brock and a number of other good boys and Delmont has a good record in the south.

Little has been heard of Harang outside of New Orleans and Memphis. Time was when fighting was only a side line with the little Frenchman, who hails from the district known as the Irish Channel, and then he trained at night and worked as a bookkeeper in the day time, but now he is seeking recognition as a championship contender and he is starting on a campaign which he confidently hopes will ultimately bring him a match with Kilbane at 122, ringside. Harang has natural advantages in height and reach that are not possessed by any other featherweight. He is the tallest featherweight in the game at present and stands fully five feet eight inches and yet he can make 122 ringside without any trouble.

Young Jack O'Brien is one of the cleverest boxers ever developed in the east. His speed on leads and counters is at times dazzling. His foot work is superb, and he has thoroughly mastered the defensive side of boxing. Possessing these valuable assets, it is a mystery why those who have him in charge do not teach him how to hit properly. He rarely leads or counters with his feet set, nor does he send his body with the blow. O'Brien is now on the threshold of manhood. He has the strength, and he should be taught how to use it.

Boxers who meet O'Brien, especially those of the Kid Conley type, will invariably take a half dozen blows from the West Philadelphia youngster for the sake of landing one. Their blows are effective, while O'Brien lacks the sting. By judicious exercise at punching the bag O'Brien in one month's time could increase the force of his blows 40 per cent and without sacrificing any of his speed. His punching muscles would be strengthened and the girth of his chest increased. From a "tapper" he could be developed into a crack welterweight.

And now we have discovered why it was that the New York state boxing commission refused to let Sam Langford, Joe Jeannette and other battlers of color swap punches with some of the "white hope" persons who infest this locality. It was because they don't want the real source of their income sent to the various graveyards.

The commission recently published a statement showing that for the year ended Nov. 30, 1913, the gross receipts from boxing bouts in the state amounted to $1,994,796; that the net receipts were $775,596, and the commission's divvy of 5 per cent was $38,871.

A large portion of this money came through the staging of alleged fights between "white hopes." Now, you see, if "Thammy" or Joe ever got a chance at some of those piano movers, longshoremen, etc., the undertaking business would boom in a lively fashion, there wouldn't be any "white hopes" left to pit against each other in a very short period, and the commission's rakeoff would hardly supply the members with cigar money.

Jack Blackburn demonstrated that his five years' enforced retirement from the boxing game had not slowed him up a bit in his scrap with Tommy Howell in Philadelphia recently.

Blackburn made no attempt to knock Howell out. He was simply content to outbox his willing and aggressive opponent. And he did in five of the six rounds. Howell was wild and missed many left and right hand swings. Blackburn, on the contrary, timed his blows to a nicety and stabbed Howell with his left seemingly at will. In fact, several times he laid his left in Howell's face.

Howell played for Blackburn's body, but none of his blows were effective. The best blows that he landed were two straight left handed jabs, which caught Blackburn flush in the face. They were, however, not hard enough to leave a mark.

RESOLUTE'S CENTERBOARD A THIN BRONZE BLADE.

One of the features of the construction of the Resolute, the prospective America's cup defender, being built by the Herreshoffs, in Bristol, R. I., is a bronze centerboard that is little more than a blade. It is made of two thin plates of bronze riveted together, the whole being only two and a half inches thick. Its thinness not only will make it much less of a drag in the water than the ordinary board, but a very small slot is required for the housing of it in the lead keel when it is not being used. As a result the sacrifice of lead in the keel to make a place for the board is small.

Captain Brickley Issues Call For Spring Football Practice.

Spring football practice at Harvard has been started. The idea of Captain Brickley is to get out as large a squad as possible, including all the green men who wish to try for the eleven. They are being started at the rudiments of the game, so that next fall a great deal of the ground work usually reserved for that time will have been done.

Both tackle positions and one guard have to be developed for the 1914 season, and no line candidate will escape keen observation. Haughton has never been at the stadium regularly during spring practice, but this year he will make an exception and will be on hand every day, having with him a great many of the regular coaching staff, including the two Withingtons, Paul and Lothrop; Derrick Parmenter, Leo Leary and Captain Storor.

Announcement that forward passing will by no means be neglected this spring shows that Harvard, despite reactionary statements attributed to Haughton and others, has not had her eyes closed to the signs of the times. When summer vacation begins those who have caught the eyes of the coaches will receive footballs, together with instructions to follow them assiduously throughout the summer.

Specifications tell the Story --performance verifies it

The KesselKar 40 "Four"—a justly famous car—never sold previously to this year for less than $2125.

Yet with additions and refinements not included in former models, with more liberal dimensions and advanced design, the present price is $2000.

To appreciate this value, the prospective buyer needs only to compare the specifications with those of other cars of similar price.

In the KesselKar 40 "Four" you will find a longer wheelbase, bigger springs, shock absorbers, roomier tonneau, deep upholstery and other attributes that contribute to an unequaled riding quality.

It has left-hand drive, with control and brake levers in the center; started by foot; three unit system of lighting, ignition and starting; four-speed transmission; pressure fuel feed.

It has illuminated instruments and running boards, tires in the rear, solar head lamps, Mayo radiator and equipment complete to the smallest detail.

In every feature of its construction it squares with the best engineering principle.

And back of the structural superiority of this car is a record of actual performance that proves it to be not only the most serviceable, but the most economical car of its class on the market.

Service—a definite, specific service to KesselKar owners that takes care of the car after the sale and keeps down running costs.

SOME QUEER BALL STUNTS

"Ratty" Plays Pulled by Cravath and Others on Coast

Most of the baseball played Tuesday and Wednesday was staged on Spring street last week and took the form of fanning bees, writes Harry A. Williams in the Los Angeles Times.

In one of these curbstome conventions, the theme switched to "ratty" plays.

"I'll never forget a funny one that was put across on Cravath up in Seattle when I was playing short for the Angels," reminisced Jimmy Toman.

"Jack Walters was playing right field for Seattle. Cravath walloped a short fly out in his territory that was as safe as a government bond. Walters, however, made a fine try for it. The ball struck the ground just in front of him, and bounced straight up into his hands.

Ran to Meet Him

"Cravath, who had not kept his eye on the play, looked over his shoulder just in time to see Walters grab the ball. It looked to him like a fair catch. He wheeled and ran half way out into right field to congratulate Walters on his great catch.

"When the real situation finally dawned on Cravath, he felt just about the right size to crawl through a gimlet hole."

Cravath later pulled off one in Los Angeles that for pure unadulterated nerve was in a class by itself.

It was in a game between the Angels and Portland, and the play was made at the expense of Anson Mott, then playing third for Portland and later a charter member of the Tigers.

Needed Two

The game had waged along to the ninth inning, and Los Angeles needed two runs to win. Cravath was on third, and "Kitty" Brashear at second.

The catcher tried to pick Cravath off third with a throw to Mott. The latter took the ball, tucked it under his arm and tried to put over the moth-eaten hidden ball trick. Cravath pretended not to be up to what was up, but kept one eye on Mott and the other on the umpire.

As soon as the umpire's attention was called elsewhere, he deliberately pried the ball out from under Mott's arm and threw it to the left-field bleachers. Cravath and Brashear both lit out for the plate, while the other players gasped in astonishment.

Won Game

The ump's eyes were almost popping out of his head, while Mott let out a yell that could be heard in El Modena and made a mad dash after the ball. He then made a bad heave to the plate, and Brashear followed Cravath in with the winning run.

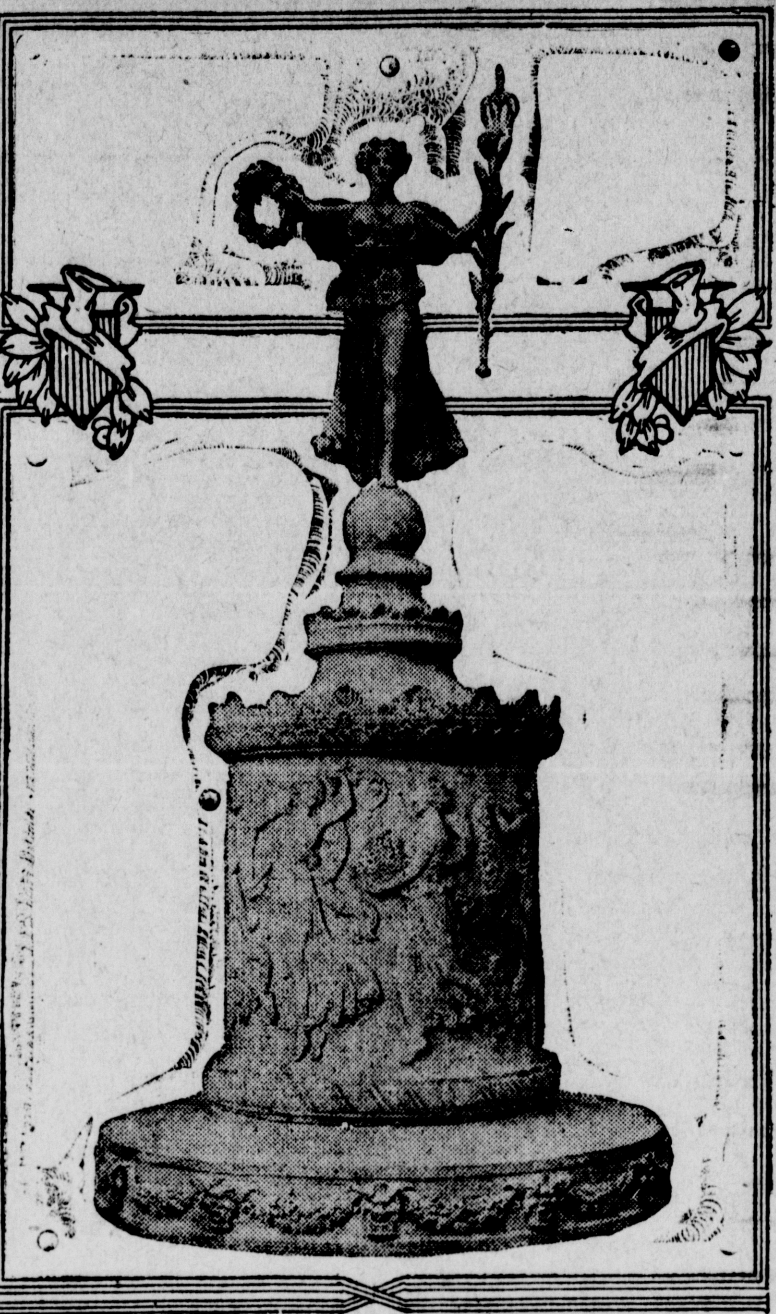

Had Mott appeared directly to the umpire, he might have prevented the runs, but his actions in going after the ball served only to further befuddle that official, and both runs were permitted to count.

Unquestionably the prize "ratty" play of all time was staged by "Rube" Haley, the first year that Hogan had a team.

Haley had been cast aside by the Oakland club as a hopeless case, it having been demonstrated that he couldn't think on both sides of his head at once. Hogan, however, was hard-pressed, and thought that he might be able to splice out with Haley.

Switched

Haley was signed as a second base-

TREASURES OF THE WORLD AT THE GREAT PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION IN SAN FRANCISCO IN 1915.

THE treasures of the world will be shown to millions of visitors at the great Panama-Pacific International Exposition in San Francisco in 1915. Thirty-four of the world's great nations have accepted the invitation of the United States, and their displays will be among the most elaborate ever shown at a world's exposition.

The artistic phases of the Exposition will be especially notable. The photograph above shows a superb work, "The Fountain of Ceres," by a famed woman sculptor, Miss Evelyn Beatrice Logman. The fountain, which will be twenty-six feet in height, will be placed in the entrance upon San Francisco harbor of the Court of the Four Seasons.

man, but finally Hogan switched him to the outfield, figuring that he could do less damage there than any place else.

One day a play came up involving runners between second and third and the plate. It was one of those double rundown things, with the Tigers doing the running. Haley, running clear in from center field, butted into the play, and finally batted the thing up by throwing the ball to Hogan, which at that moment was just the opposite thing from what he should have done.

Hogan was paralyzed, not only by the "bomer" which Haley had pulled, but to think that he would go a hundred yards out of his way to get mixed in the play.

Haley was "called" long and hard. His defense was that he figured that he should throw the ball to Hogan as Hap was manager of the club.

Funny One

"Can you imagine a man putting the ball up against the right field fence and still failing to get a single on it," inquired Jim Morley. All those present admitted that they couldn't imagine anything like that, unless it happened to be a short fence, the runner loafed and the ball took a sharp rebound.

"The Angels were playing Oakland on the latter's grounds. Two were down with Raymer on first and one run needed to win. Householder slammed the ball on a line to the right field fence, and you all recall how Eddie could pickle the pill. Raymer made a dash for second. At the same time 'Kid' Mohler and Buck Franks, who were playing second and short for Oakland, began dancing around and shouldering each other as though getting under a high fly.

"Raymer fell for the trick, and believing that the ball had been hit into the air, turned and made a wild dive back into first just as Householder crossed the base.

"Raymer, of course, was easily forced at second by the right fielder, and Householder robbed of a perfectly good single.

"And believe me, Eddie certainly did love his base hits."

In regard to the above story told by Jimmy Toman Victor Walker says that Toman's version as to the play Cravath was mixed up in is wrong. Walker saw the game in question. Householder and not Jack Walters was playing right field for Seattle. Cravath knocked a short fly to the right territory and Householder ran up to get the ball. Cravath glanced at the right field as he rounded first, and seeing that Householder would be able to put him (Cravath) out easily, started to walk to the bench. Householder misjudged the ball. Mangerino, coaching on first, was dancing up and down yelling for Cravath to get to second. This Cravath started to do but it was too late. Householder had finished chasing the ball by that time and threw Cravath out at second. What Walker takes exception to is the statement that Cravath ran out towards Householder to congratulate him on his catch. The game in question was played during the '06 season, in Seattle.

FEDERALS HAVE HARD ROW TO HOE

New Organization Schedule Has Many Conflicts.

WESTERN TEAMS HARD HIT.

Four Other Leagues in Opposition to the Outlaws Both at Home and Abroad—Are Making a Game Fight and Look For Success—Seems Dubious, However.

The Federal league schedule for 1914 shows a series of conflicts that hardly speaks well for the financial success of the new organization in its first year's battle for recognition as a major league. The list of playing dates conflicts with organized baseball, as represented by the two major leagues and the two leading minor leagues, no less than 340 times during the season, or in 55 per cent of the 616 games which the schedule calls for. If disaster should befall the Feds it would be due principally to this long list of conflicts, as even the established teams of organized baseball would find hard sledding under such a great handicap.

Continuous baseball, which the Federal league promoters hoped for in the six cities which had but one opposing team, was found to be an impossibility. With four different schedules to work against it was impossible to fill in the open dates in the one team cities and at the same time preserve any sort of travel system.

In Brooklyn the Superbas and Brookfeds will conflict on thirty-three playing dates, leaving the same number of days without baseball and forty-four days when each team will be without opposition. Hence the Wards' hope of continuous baseball is shattered. The Brookfeds will run against fifty-three conflicts on the road, thus enjoying only twenty-four games without opposition on other fields.

Chicago and St. Louis, battling against organized baseball every day at home and each team in outside conflict in more than half of the games abroad, present a most difficult proposition for Federal league success. Both cities have enjoyed everyday baseball for years, so it was impossible to get any open dates for the Chicago and St. Louis Federals.

On the road the Chifeds will oppose organized ball in forty-three of their seventy-seven games, a total of 129 conflicts in 154 games. The St. Louis Federals are close behind with forty conflicts in seventy-seven games away from home, making a total of 117 games during the season when Mordecai Brown's team will find an established team bidding for the public patronage.

Of the cities which have not had two teams and everyday baseball in the past Buffalo presents the most difficult problem. Brooklyn, Baltimore and Pittsburgh, each with a larger population to draw from, have a much easier time in the matter of conflicts. Larry Schladt's Buffalo Feds will play at home on forty-seven days when Billy's Clymer's Bisons are playing in the same city, leaving only thirty home games without opposition.

On the road the Buffalo Feds will oppose organized baseball in about half of their games, the figures being thirty-eight conflicts against thirty-nine unopposed games. Buffalo has never ranked among the leading baseball cities, as judged from attendance and receipts, so the Feds will have a desperate battle to get along.

Kansas City is another to find conflicts in a majority of its games. Stovall's team will have thirty-six conflicts at home and forty-three while on the road. Thus five of the eight Federal league clubs will find opposition more often than they get dates with no opposition. The other three teams run between ten and fifteen conflicts under the halfway mark on the season's games. Baltimore is the most fortunate at home, having but eighteen conflicts with Jack Dunn's Orioles, but Knabe's team will face opposition forty-six times on the road.

The Pittsburgh Federals have the easiest time on the road, with only thirty-three conflicts, and the twenty-nine clashes with Fred Clarke's Pirates give the new team a total of sixty-two conflicts, the low number among the Federal league teams.

As figured from the standpoint of playing strength and firm establishment among the fans, the teams of organized baseball will naturally get the preference over the newly organized Federals. So from every angle the task of the Federals seems much less promising than was the case before the Federal schedule was made public.

If the Federal league can overcome the handicap of continuous conflict, high salaries and the task of getting major league prices in four minor league cities it is deserving of all the success that may come to it, and more besides.
